HAY BARN FIRED BY RIOTING CONVICTS

UNDERGROUND PITS LOCATED BY U.S. AGENTS

USED IN KIDNAPING YOUTH, G-MEN BELIEVE

Tacoma, Wash., June 18. (AP)—Discovery of underground pits, indicating the George Weyerhaeuser kidnaping had been planned long before it was carried out, became known today as department of justice agents prepared to lay secret evidence before a federal grand jury tomorrow.

Government agents will seek to obtain indictments against Mr. and Mrs. Harmon M. Waley, in custody on kidnap charges, and William Mahan, fugitive ex-convict sought in the case.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the justice department's bureau of investigation, announced at Washington that Mahan, sought as the "brains" of the $200,000 abduction, had planned a kidnaping a year ago and built an underground pit near Spirit Lake, Ida., with chains to fasten his intended victim.

Hoover said the pit had been found by citizens in June, 1934, and that a second pit was discovered near Tacoma.

George Weyerhaeuser, 9 year old lumber family heir, was held in the second pit immediately after his abduction last May 24, Hoover said.

Government agents refused to reveal the location of the second pit, and the whereabouts of a lean to, apparently near Issaquah, Wash., at which the kidnaped boy was released June 1 upon payment of the ransom.

Hoover said the Spirit Lake and Tacoma pits were similar to the one in which six-year-old June Robles was placed by kidnapers near Tucson, Ariz., in April, 1934. She was found after 19 days captivity.

W. E. Burnett, former chief deputy sheriff of Spokane, said George and his parents lived at Lewiston, Idaho, 140 miles south of the Spirit Lake pit, until two years ago.

Burnett also recalled that the Spirit Lake pit contained newspapers dated a few days after the discovery of the Robles' girl.

Hoover announced the Spirit Lake pit contained a hammer, spade and axe, and that attached to a bottom board of the pit were two long chains with which to fasten the victim.

Slash In Electric Rates Are Ordered

Lansing, June 18. (AP)—The state utilities commission ordered today a 10 per cent reduction in electrical rates charged in southwestern Michigan by the Michigan Gas and Electric company.

The reduction is to be effective July 1. It was sought by petitions from Schoolcraft, Dowagiac, Vicksburg, Marcellus, Sturgis, Gobles, Edwardsburg and White Pigeon. The order today affects only a portion of the company's service in the state.

Jeweler Found Dead Near Munising

Bodies Of Mother And Son Are Found

Pittsburgh, June 18 (AP)—Slain several days ago, the bodies of Mrs. Mary Louise Stewart, 29, and her three-year-old son were found in the darkened parlor of suburban Wilkinsburg home tonight.

The woman had been hacked and stabbed several times. The boy, Norman, was strangled with a loop of picture wire.

County detectives said the mother and her son had apparently been killed Saturday. They started a search for the woman's husband, Norman Stewart, 30, a university graduate, who the officers said has been missing since Saturday from the downtown grocery where he was employed.

County Detective Thomas Calig found a broken bread knife and a blood spattered hammer in the house. He said these were the weapons used by the killed. The boy had also been struck with the hammer.

The Stewarts had one other child, Janet, 8.

VOTE TODAY ON SECURITY BILL

Clark Seeks Amendment To Retain Private Pension Plans

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, June 18 (AP)—A senate vote on the administration's social security bill was blocked today by an all day debate over an amendment to exempt private pension plans and repeated Democratic attacks on the constitutionality of the measure.

Senate leaders had hoped to dispose of the bill today, but when debate on the Clark amendment dragged on they finally compromised with an agreement to vote on it tomorrow and limit debate so that the entire bill would be disposed of by nightfall.

The amendment was offered by Senator Clark (D. Mo.), who contended many private systems were more liberal than the plan proposed by the government. He sought to exempt from the contemplated six per cent tax against employers and employes all companies which had plans as good or better than the public plan.

Senator George (D. Ga.), one of the senate's constitutional lawyers, argued that unless the Clark amendment was adopted the plan might wreck the private pension systems now in effect, then be declared invalid by the courts, and leave employes no protection.

Administration leaders argued that on the other hand without the Clark amendment the law would be constitutional, but that adoption of the amendment would cast doubt on the constitutionality of the taxes.

Sen. Wagner (D. NY.) contended also that the amendment would encourage private companies to employ younger men and would leave the government "holding the bag" with nothing but the older men under its system.

Nellie Finds Food And Drink On Car

Joliet, Ill., June 18. (AP)—Because Nellie was hungry and thirsty and park policeman James Barrowman's parked car was handy, Nellie, in the order named, drank from a bucket of gasoline on the running board, licked part of the paint from the car and munched away part of the upholstery inside.

Policeman Barrowman told the Joliet park board all about it and because the park board owns Nellie and uses her to haul a lawn mower in Pilcher park the members voted to settle with Barrowman for $5.

At the park stables it was reported that Nellie was still as good a mare as she ever was.

Detroit Life Co. Is In Receivership

Lansing, June 18 (AP)—The Detroit Life Insurance company went into receivership today.

Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr appointed John C. Ketcham, state insurance commissioner, as receiver after counsel for the company consented to the action.

Counsel for the company explained it was consenting to receivership because it wanted the state, rather than the company, to stand the costs of an exhaustive survey of the assets. The company has 22,000 policyholders mostly in Detroit.

Foresters of Midwest Plan 3-Day Meeting

BY G. MILTON KELLY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Houghton Lake, Mich., June 18 (AP)—Men whose business is the conservation of the nation's forest and wild life resources began gathering here tonight for the central states forestry congress which opens tomorow night.

The visitors will witness demonstrations of the work that has made Michigan famous as a leader in conservation work.

Noted speakers will deliver addresses at the three-day meetings. Among them will be Robert F. Fechtner, director of emergency conservation work for the federal government, and J. N. (Ding) Darling, the celebrated cartoonist and chief of the United States bureau of biological survey.

11 States Represented

Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald; P. J. Hoffmaster, director of conservation in Michigan; E. W. Tinker, regional forester for the United States forestry service; Congressman Roy O. Woodruff of Saginaw and others prominent in conservation affairs will give addresses.

On field trips Thursday and Friday the visitors will see how Michigan uses portable radio sets to help sound fire alarms and direct operations of fire fighters. They will watch the sinking of the so-called "jet" wells, providing emergency water supplies of 150 gallons a minute for fighting forest fires.

Thursday's 70-mile field trip will take the conservationists through points of interest such as experimental tracts for the development of new ideas on forestry; the Grayling fish hatchery; the cities of lake and stream improvement work, a state forest nursery and forest plantations, and to a wild fowl brooding project.

Forest fire prevention and Michigan's system of battling fires will be demonstrated on a field trip Friday. On that day, too, Darling, Fechtner and the governor will give their talks.

States which will be represented at the meeting are: Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Missouri, Tennessee, West Virginia and Ohio.

CHINA ACCEPTS JAPAN'S TERMS

Governor of Chahar Replaced in Accordance With Demands

(Copyright 1935, By The Associated Press)

Tientsin, China, yielding again to Japanese army demands, today ousted Gen. Sung Cheh-Yuan as governor of Chahar province and ordered the 132nd Chinese division to evacuate Chahar.

That was the price the iron-fisted Japanese demanded in settlement of the "Changpei incident," the detention last week at Changpei of four Japanese whose papers, Chinese officials asserted were not in order.

Japanese spokesmen also hinted that liquidation of the Chahar issue brought all phases of the three-weeks-old north China crisis "to the stage of amicable settlement."

Maj.-Gen. Kenji Doihara, director of the special service division of Japan's Kwantung army announced the "principal terms" of the Chahar settlement, saying the final and formal agreement would be reached at Kalgan near the scene of the incident.

To replace the dismissed General Sung as Chahar governor, the national government at Nanking named Civil Commissioner Chin Tehchuan whom Japanese army spokesmen praised highly for his work as negotiator on behalf of Sung in the Changpei issue.

As though to emphasize the completeness of the Japanese army's victory, veteran Japanese troops garrisoned at Tientsin during the last year began moving out, leaving only 800 new arrivals here.

Japanese officers said concentration of troops along the great wall would continue, however.

SLIGHT DECREASE

Washington, June 18 (AP)—A slight decrease in retail food prices for the two weeks ended June 4, was reported today by the labor department. The same amount of food which cost $1.24 the previous two weeks cost $1.23.8 the two weeks ended June 4.

WOMAN HELD; HINT EVIDENCE OF FOUL PLAY

AUTHORITIES WILL HOLD INQUEST IN CASE

Munising, June 18—Eliss M. Alberts, 46, Duluth jewelry salesman and old gold buyer, was found dead, 40 feet from his parked car, one and a half miles off M-28, near Star Sliding, 15 miles east of here, by Sheriff Louis Pelletier and Trooper James Smith this morning. Alberts is believed to have been killed, probably last Friday. Mrs. Annette LaPort, Munising woman, is held for questioning in the case.

There were bloodstains on Alberts' body and his automobile when found and Sergeant Charles Engle and Troper William Irish were assigned to the investigation by Captain O. E. Demaray, of the Marquette detachment, state police. Fingerprints are being taken.

Alberts' jewelry was nearby, eliminating robbery as a motive for murder.

Alberts registered at a Munising hotel Thursday but checked out Friday, when he visited a jewelry store. The proprietor was not in the store at the time and Alberts said he would return in an hour, but he failed to do so.

Persons who noticed Alberts' car parked off the highway for the past four days notified the sheriff who with Smith found Alberts' body when they investigated.

Coroner T. W. Scholtes reported that the man had been dead at least for several days. An inquest will be held tomorrow.

Mrs. LaPorte was arrested for questioning after Herman Monette, highway employe, revealed that he had seen her with Alberts Friday.

Mrs. LaPorte admitted riding with Alberts to the spot where his parked car and his body was later found but insisted that she knew nothing concerning his death. She is reported as having told state police and local authorities that she left Alberts sleeping in the car Friday.

After several hours of questioning, Mrs. LaPorte was confined in jail without charge, pending further investigation and the outcome of the coroner's inquest.

Members of the coroner's jury are: Archie Carpenter, John McFee, Eben Ames, Clyde Lambert, Sam Gollinger, and Dave Fuller.

HAS SIX CHILDREN

Duluth, Minn., June 18. (AP)—E. M. Alberts, 48, Duluth jewelry salesman whose body was found in a parked automobile 15 miles east of Munising, Mich., today, left his home here two weeks ago to visit camps in the Michigan peninsula—a practice which he has followed in his business for many years. He usually carried between $2,000 and $3,000 worth of jewelry with him. He is survived by his widow and six children.

HOMICIDE CHARGE

Adrian, Mich., June 18. (AP)—John G. Joseph, 21, of Sylvania, O., was arraigned today on a charge of negligent homicide in the death Saturday night of Mrs. Susan Britt of Adrian in an automobile collision. Examination will be held July 9.

In the Headlines From Washington

(By The Associated Press)

House leaders hinted at willingness to make wide concessions to permit the utility holding company bills and TVA bills to reach the house floor.

The house passed the AAA amendments, designed to strengthen the administration farm adjustment program.

Secretary Ickes contended the $900,000,000 non-federal words fund could be used despite White House emphasis on speed and low cost average.

House Democratic leaders pressed for passage by Thursday night of the Wagner labor disputes bill.

The senate ordered an investigation of corruption charges in the commerce department brought by Ewing Y. Mitchell, ousted assistant secretary.

Senate liberals planned addition of new levies to the nuisance tax bill passed Monday by the house.

Debate over an amendment to exempt private old age pension systems from the social security program delayed until Wednesday a senate vote on the security bill.

Little NRA had before it sixteen proposed voluntary codes and a White House suggestion for the impartial committee to study changes in labor standards and business ethics.

FAYETTE HAS $271 ROBBERY

Postoffice Is Entered; $240 Cash Taken From Safe

When Postmaster Fred Van Remortel opened the Fayette postoffice Tuesday morning he found that it had been robbed during the night, with a total loss of $271.10, including $240 in cash and three money orders taken from a safe.

Sheriff William E. Miron, who was called to investigate, said that the postoffice was entered by prying open a window, making a small opening which would enable a very small person to crawl through. Indications were that the window had been jimmied with considerable difficulty, as it was nailed and fastened with a catch. The door was then opened from the inside to admit the second person believed to have been involved in the robbery.

The safe was opened, and closed up again, after the cash and three money orders were removed. The orders had been cashed by Mr. Van Remortel, and were to be forwarded to Marquette in order to be credited to the Fayette postoffice. The amounts of the orders were $15, $12 and $4.10. No stamps were taken.

Heart Balm Suit Dropped In Detroit

Detroit, June 18. (AP)—Henry B. Joy, Sr., Detroit capitalist, won a victory today in an alienation of affections suit asking $100,000 damages brought by Burr F. Sprague, one time collection agency employe.

The suit was dismissed by Judge Joseph A. Moynihan in circuit court, and the costs assessed against sprague. Counsel for Sprague asked the dismissal.

Mrs. Helen Sprague, estranged wife of the plaintiff, was employed by the Joy family as a nurse in 1932.

Joy had asked for an opportunity to take the witness stand in order to spread on the public records "character vindication" for Mrs. Sprague.

Surrenders to Police On Eve of Wedding

Detroit, June 18 (AP)—On the eve of her wedding to a young factory worker, Michalene Olkowski, 21, wrote a farewell note to her sweetheart today, and then hailed a police motor squad and told the officers that five years ago she had buried her day old baby.

Inspector John I. Navarre of the homicide squad, who reported the details of the girl's story, said detectives, following her instructions, unearthed a small skeleton in a barn where she said she had buried the infant. Navarre quoted the girl as saying the child was alive when buried.

Stephen Sczupliox, 52, was arrested for assaulting the girl, and Inspector Navarre said he would also charge him with murder. She said Sczupliok's threats to expose her prompted her decision to volunteer the information to police.

While reciting her story at headquarters, Lieut. Daniel O'Connor said he took from her hand a crumpled farewell note she had written to "Walter," the man she was soon to marry. She refused to identify him further.

"Please drop the wedding," said the note. "I'm not the kind of a girl you think I am. You will know when you read the newspapers. I am going to give myself up to the police. I love you too much to bring you any trouble."

Senate Will Probe Mitchell's Charges

BY PRESTON L. GROVER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, June 18 (AP)—A senate investigation was ordered today into charges by Ewing Y. Mitchell, recently ousted assistant secretary of commerce, of "apparent evidence of corruption" in that department.

Even as he was subpoenaed to appear tomorrow before the senate commerce committee, Mitchell today tossed new accusations of "treasury plundering" under the ship-subsidy system. Then, after asserting that political pressure had played a part in his dismissal ,he offered to serve for $1 a year as an assistant to Attorney General Cummings to probe his own charges.

Inefficiency Claimed

Mitchell was deposed by President Roosevelt as an assistant to Secretary Roper, when he refused to resign. Tomorrow he will be asked to testify under oath to charges made in a series of letters to the chief executive, that "millions of dollars in mail pay" were being "squandered" under jurisdiction of the department with "scandalous disregard of the public interest."

Meanwhile, the senate was confronted with other sensational assertions by a special senate investigating committee that the whole system of building up a merchant marine with government money had brought on a "saturnalia of waste, inefficiency, unearned exorbitant salaries, and bonuses and other forms of so-called compensation."

The special committee, headed by Senator Black (D-Ala), turned over to the senate its findings from a year-long investigation into the ship subsidy program that was initiated after the war and continued under contracts existing at present.

The subsidy program, the committee asserted, was "productive of fraud" and had resulted in individuals "publicly posing at patriots" while they "piped" subsidy money into their own pockets. The committee proposed that the subsidy proposals now before the senate be surrounded with stern protection against graft or illicit and unwise spending.

The senate investigation into Mitchell's statements was ordered after a two-hour session of the commerce committee.

The group at the same time voted 13 to 5 in approving the nomination of John Monroe Johnson, of South Carolina, as a successor to the deposed member of the "little cabinet."

Mitchell asserted yesterday that Roper had permitted the United States lines company to evade payment to the United States of $1,720,000 under a subsidy contract on the Leviathan.

In a letter to the president dated June 15 and made public today by Mitchell, he declared the opposition in the department he had engendered by assailing such policies had combined with party opposition in Missouri to bring his ouster.

While Sen. Copeland expressed the view that a majority of the commerce committee gave little credence to Mitchell's charges, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), upon whose motion the investigation was ordered, said they could not be "passed over lightly."

LOWER PHONE RATES DENIED

Bell Firm Will Not Submit Scale of Voluntary Reductions

Lansing, June 18 (AP)—The Michigan Bell Telephone company ignored today the suggestion of William M. Smith, chairman of the state utilities commission, that it submit a schedule of voluntary rate reductions.

Instead, Thomas G. Long, attorney for the company, introduced a list of witness who picked apart the state's appraisal of its properties in an effort to raise the company's valuation for rate making purposes.

W. T. King, chief engineer for the commission, took the witness stand to testify to a $5,000,000 appraisal error made by the state. King said his predecessor, Manfred K. Toeppen, had under estimated the company's manual property that amount.

Rate cuts given in Detroit in 1926 amounted to only $2,848,724 over a nine-year period, King testified, and during the same period the company had instituted raises outstate which increased its tolls $5,623,000. Smith brought out by questioning that the supposed rate cut, under King's testimony, actually resulted in an estimated $300,000 a year increase in company revenues.

Fred R. Temple, Bell engineer, attempted to show that Toeppen had under estimated the value of the company holding by $16,500,000.

The city of Detroit, through assistant corporation counsel Arthur E. Lederle, demanded that telephone rates there be reduced. He declared the lucrative business of the telephone company in Detroit permitted it to maintain unprofitable outstate service. He placed John H. Morgan, utilities statistician for the city, on the stand to point out the company's profits. Lederle maintained the company discriminated between Detroit and Chicago in rates for service to customers.

The commission received from the city council of Iron Mountain today a request to be allowed to intercede in the rate fight.

Prison Probation Camp Plans Dropped

Jackson, Mich., June 18 (AP)—Warden Charles B. Shean of the South Michigan prison revealed today that plans for a series of prison probation camps for young and first-term offenders have been abandoned by the state prison commission for reasons of economy.

Warden Shean, returning from a meeting of the commission at Marquette, said that one camp already established about 90 miles from the Marquette branch prison, at Marquette, will be completed and continued in operation. No other camps will be built, however, the warden said.

PRISONERS AT KANSAS WANT BETTER FOOD

MUTINEERS DEMAND DISCHARGE OF PHYSICIAN

BULLETIN

Lansing, Kas., June 18 (AP)—A mob of 347 rioting convicts in the Kansas penitentiary coal mine released two of their 11 hostages late tonight, then started a second fire and began tearing up mine fixtures.

BY CHARLES A. GRUMICH
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lansing, Kas., June 18 (AP)—Defying tear gas and bullets, 347 rioting convicts in the smoke-filled Kansas penitentiary coal mine threatened tonight to "tear up the damn mine" unless demands for better food and a new prison physician were speedily granted.

Communicating by telephone with Waraden Lacy Simpson the mutineers rejected an invitation to come out with their 11 hostages and name a committee to present their demands before the state board of administration.

"We can't do anything with you down there," Simpson said. "Come on up and we'll treat you square."

Fired Hay Barn

"Nothing doing," the convict spokesman retorted. "And we'll tear up the damn mine if you don't do something right away."

The warden departed hastily for another conference with members of the board, who came here from Topeka, the capital, late today, some eight hours after the convicts mutinied.

Smoke continued to roll up the air shaft from a fire in the mine's mule barns at the 730-foot level. The convicts set fire to hay stored there to halt an advance upon them led by Deputy Warden A. J. Graham. The fire subsided late tonight after the 25 or 30 tons of hay, and sticks hurled into the blaze by convicts, had been consumed.

Graham and six armed guards were forced to retreat before the billowing smoke. They fired a dozen shots from pistols and shotguns as they did so. After returning to the surface, Graham said he did not believe any of the convicts were wounded.

It was not believed that either the striking convicts or their hostages had eaten since they descended between 6 and 7 a. m., Central Standard Time.

There was drinking water in the mine, but little if any food.

Shortly before 8 p. m. Central Standard Time (9 p. m. EST), an unidentified spokesman for the men telephoned to Warden Simpson, repeating the demands.

"Nothing Doing."

Warden Simpson replied that the board had decided it could not deal with the case until the men emerged.

"We'll call you again," the convict said. At 8:30 came the stub-

OMAHA STRIKE ACCORD SOUGHT

Dispute Brought Before Arbitration Board By Governor

Omaha, Neb., June 18. (AP)—Governor R. L. Cochran's demand for arbitration of the Omaha street car strike was approved today by both strikers and the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company. The city has been under martial law since Saturday as a result of riots in connection with the strike.

Street cars that disappeared like magic from the streets yesterday when the company failed to meet the governor's demand for appointment of an arbitrator by a specified hour, reappeared with the same swiftness after acceptance of the arbitration demand.

Within an hour after making his announcement, Cochran had completed the arbitration board. Hurrying to the governor's headquarters, Ernest Bowerman, the choice of the strikers, and Sam Reynolds, choice of the company, immediately agreed to let the governor select a third man. Cochran named John J. Ledwith of Lincoln.

Ledwith is a lawyer. Reynolds is a businessman and Bowerman is secretary of the Omaha Central Labor Union.

All "cardinal points" of the dispute that has brought two deaths and injury to more than 150 persons in three riots will be arbitrated Governor Cochran said.

Investigator Fails To Collect $600 Fee

Lansing, Mich., June 18. (AP)—A special investigator who said he was employed on state work by former Gov. William A. Comstock lost an attempt to collect a $600 fee from the state administrative board today.

The investigator, John McGraw, said he was hired to investigate the state liquor control and public utilities commissions during Comstock's administration. The board ruled that it could not pay the bill because McGraw was hired for a special purpose.

Three Are Washed Overboard In Wreck

Sydney, N. S., June 18. (AP)—Officers of the disabled British Collier Kafiristan reported tonight that three of their seamen had been washed overboard and five others injured Sunday in the collision with the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain.

Eight men were sleeping in the forecastle of the Collier when the vessels crashed in a dense fog in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Captain E. L. Lusby and his officers refused to comment on the disaster after the crippled Kafiristan was towed into harbor tonight by two tugs.

CENTER OF BIBLICAL LORE

REPLETE with memories of Biblical history are the stamps of Palestine, and none more so than the one shown below. It depicts a view of the Sea of Galilee, where Christ stilled the storm, where He walked upon the waters, and along whose shores He performed numerous miracles. Today this vast sea, or lake, is visited by thousands of tourists annually from all parts of the world.

A peculiarity of the stamps of Palestine, as you will see by this example, is the fact that they are printed in three languages, representing as many powerful nationalities in that region. These languages are Arabic, English, and Hebrew, the English name predominating at the top, since Palestine is actually a British mandate.

born reply: "Nothing doing."

Those held by the convicts included 10 guards and Mine Superintendent Robert Murray, who descended early today to negotiate with the strikers. Milt Gould, one of the guards listed as missing in first official announcements, was found at his home.

Graham gave a graphic account of his descent into the mine through the airshaft—the only entry not commanded by the rioters.

"When we reached the gun cage at the bottom of the shaft, I took six of the men and proceeded into the mine for a couple of hundred feet.

"On the way, we tied some rails across the mine tracks so the convicts couldn't crash the gun cage by running cars into it. As we approached the mule barn we saw hands reach out and set fire to the hay.

"In a minute the place was filled with hot smoke. We had to turn back but we blazed away about a dozen times on our way to the gun cage. I didn't hear anybody yell, so I suppose we missed."

Five convicts, last of the 347 to enter the mine, were repelled with tear gas when they attempted to obtain command of the gun cage, occupied by O. N. Johnson and three other guards. They succeeded in capturing other entrance ways and telephones.

Will T. Beck, Tom Woodward and Dr. James M. Scott, members of the board of administration, arrived at the penitentiary while the fire was at its height.

"This is the first time we've ever heard any complaint against the physician, Dr. David F. Parker," Beck said. "We consider him a very capable physician. As for the demand for better food, the board has been supplying them with the best it is possible for us to provide."

The air shaft was kept open by the efforts of the four beleaguered guards, who removed coal cars rolled onto the cage by convicts in an effort to hold it at the bottom, after they had repulsed the charge on the gun cage.

Graham said the flames were within 200 feet of the gun-cage, a fortified enclosure at the bottom of the air-shaft. The convicts were feeding the fire with wood, he said. Ordinarily only 25 or 30 tons of hay is kept in the barn, and there was little timber to feed the blaze.

Using one of the two telephone lines left in operation after the convicts struck between 6 and 7 a. m. (Central Standard Time) today, Guard Johnson assured Warden Simpson "we are in no danger unless they rush us with more men."

The warden, however, after hours of seeking to negotiate with the strikers through Robert Murray, the mine superintendent they respect, decided to "wait them out."

Guards Are Safe

While additional police and prison guards were mobilized on the surface, eight tower guards were ordered down the air shaft to barricade it from the lateral mine tunnel.

With nothing to eat since early morning, unless they had a small quantity of food hidden in the mine, the strikers were expected to succumb to hunger.

"So long as we have the air shaft we have the upper hand," the warden said.

The prisoners demands were voiced in a telephone call from the depths after Murray had been below since early morning to receive the demands and give them to the warden.

Shortly after noon, Murray telephoned that "everything is O. K." and that demands would be presented soon. Murray told the warden the guards held as hostages were safe. However, officials theorized he may have "had someone around him" when he made his favorable report on the situation below.

Preparations were made to use force only in the event convicts in large numbers rushed the gun cage. The mutineers were not believed to have guns.

Denied Divorce And Fined $25 As Well

Adrian, Mich., June 18. (AP)—Mrs. Clara Ida Miller of Ridgeway not only was denied a divorce from Leo J. B. Miller today but was fined $25 as well.

The judge said that testimony did not support Mrs. Miller's allegations of extreme cruelty. Mrs. Miller said she would seek the divorce in another county, but the judge replied that any other judge would take the same attitude as he had.

"Of course," Mrs. Miller began indignantly, "when people are paid."

"That will be $25," the judge said.

Collusion Charged On Gasoline Bids

Detroit, June 18. (AP)—The Detroit city council, informed by John J. Gorman, commissioner of purchases and supplies that seven major gasoline companies again had submitted identical bids for furnishing the city with gasoline, decided today to turn the bids over to Attorney General Harry S. Toy.

Toy is conducting an investigation into charges that collusion exists between Michigan gasoline concerns.

"This is a plain case of price-fixing," Gorman said. "We have not had a variance of a tenth of a cent in these bids in the last year."

The bids were for .0839 cents a gallon for June purchases and not more than .0951 for July.

STRIKERS RIOT IN VANCOUVER

Street Fighting Results As Police Try to Scatter Crowd

Vancouver, B. C., June 18 (AP)—Bloody street rioting broke out here today when police tried to scatter acrowd of 1,000 striking longshoremen and their sympathizers who attempted to march onto the Ballantyne pier.

A barrage of tear gas bombs broke among the seething ranks of the marchers and the fighting soon spread over a wide area.

Royal Canadian mounted police broke through the struggling masses to rescue a group of city police surrounded by strikers. An ambulance raced through scenes of wild disorder, picking up the injured.

Eight policemen and at least nine civilians required hospital treatment for injuries received in the three-hour melee, and scores of other persons received minor hurts or were affected by the tear gas.

Rocks, sticks and other weapons were used by the strikers. Police were knocked down and their uniforms torn to ribbons. Small groups of officers detached from the main police body suffered severely.

Battle Two Hours

The opponents battled two hours and then the rioting began afresh over an area of several blocks reaching out from the Ballantyne pier district.

Officers pursued the strikers and their sympathizers into alleys, yards and houses.

The crowd increased in numbers and police hurried reinforcements to the scene.

The trouble followed efforts of the longshoremen to obtain permission for a delegation to visit the dock to talk to men of another union working ships there. Permission was refused and about 200 men marched to the pier, where they were joined by hundreds of others.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police, guarding the pier, retreated when the crowd approached and when it ignored commands to halt unleashed a tear gas barrage.

Shortly before the fight started Ivan A. Emeory, president of the Langshore and Water Transport Workers of Canada, had been arrested and charged with inciting to riot in connection with a speech in which he was reported to have urged strikers to march in a body to the police guarded pier.

Gas Masks Used In Burying Dead

Quetta, India, June 18. (AP)—This city, devastated 18 days ago by an earthquake, resembled a vast burial ground today as troops, wearing gas masks and disinfectant pads, dug graves for the Christian victims.

Roads in many villages of the area were littered with bodies. Europeans were buried in graves 50 at a time, while the bodies of natives were burned in huge fires.

In this city 26,000 were killed, while it was believed more than 40,000 died in the entire region. Because of the danger of an epidemic, persons from the outside are forbidden to enter Quetta.

6,000 Rotarians At Mexico Convention

Mexico, D. F., June 18. (AP)—Rotarians in convention here, their numbers swelled to 6,000 by last night's flood-delayed late arrivals, today heard Allen D. Albert of Chicago, past president, describe how Rotary may help "make life more abundant for the multitude of men."

He urged the organization to continue its campaign against war, which he termed "the monster negation of man's right to live," through "attaining to an understanding of each other across international boundaries."

Members of South American delegations sent telegrams to the governments of Paraguay and Bolivia expressing the hope that permanent peace would result from the Chaco armistice.

Coastguards Search For Lost Schooner

Chicago, June 18. (AP)—Divisional coastguard headquarters today announced it had ordered five stations to search for a two-masted schooner reported several days overdue at Port Huron, Mich., from Sturgeon Bay, Wis.

Capt. Le Roy Reinburg said he understood the craft was named the "Vision," but he did not know the names of the owner or crew. Information from coast guards at Bay City, Mich., said the boat cleared Sturgeon Bay last Friday, Reinburg said.

Search parties were ordered out from Frankfort, Beaver Island, Harbor Beach, Mackinac and Bay City, Mich.

U. P. Briefs

Was Only Sleeping

Iron Mountain—Because Sarah Mildren, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mildren, of Waucedah, decided that she wanted to chase rabbits, Sheriff Paul Gingrass, Undersheriff Evan Dahlstrom and two state troopers Saturday evening spent a busy two and a half hours searching the territory near her home, and neighbors of the parents—both of whom were away at the time—were almost frantic with worry.

Sheriff Gingrass received a call at his office at 7:45 p. m. that a girl was lost and a searching party was being organized. Gingrass, Undersheriff Dahlstrom and Troopers Gilmer and Mongiat, drove to Waucedah and there learned such facts as were available. They went to the Mildren home and found a neighbor woman highly excited.

Mrs. Mildren has been a patient at the Mayo brothers hospital at Rochester, and her husband had gone to that city to bring her home. They were due to return Saturday night, but had not reached home at the time the excitement developed.

Plan Fishing Census

Iron River—Fishermen entering the Ottawa Nat'l forest will soon meet youths from the CCC camps who will question them for data to be used in developing the program of stream improvement and camp site areas.

Plans for the patrol are being made by the several ranger stations in the forest. The CCC youths, patrolling the streams for fire, will ask fishermen how many fish they caught, the average length, what kinds, baits used, best hours of fishing, what town they are staying in, how many days they will spend on their trip and the method of travel.

New Tourist Bureau

Iron River—Although construction work has been slow, merchants have been assured that the new tourist information bureau at the Twin Parks will be completed within 10 days.

The Iron River Business Men's association has subscribed approximately $400 for materials and supplies, and the ERA is furnishing the labor. The booth is being built of peeled logs and will have a split shingle roof and a rustic finish. An electric sign is to be erected.

Two men chosen from the relief rolls will be assigned to duty at the information bureau. They will be supplied with all the data necessary regarding resorts, trails, guides, etc.

A survey has already been made of the cabins and summer cottages available, lake property for sale and the best lakes and streams for fishing.

A large supply of tourist literature prepared by the business men's association and individuals and the Upper Peninsula Development bureau will be distributed.

NAME PASTOR SOON

Sault Ste. Marie—"The new pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church will not be appointed for a week and will not arrive here for a month," the Rev. Father Thomas Anderson, acting pastor, said today.

Father Anderson has been acting pastor since the death of the Very Rev. Dean John J. Stenglein, and will continue in that capacity until the new pastor arrives here.

Meanwhile priests of the district will assist Father Anderson and Father Brian Murphy with the duties of the Sault parish. Father William F. Gagnieur, S. J., has assisted for two weeks and Father William Remillard of Barbeau will assist next Sunday.

Producers Will Be Required To Pay Rehearsal Money

New York, June 18 (AP)—Abandoning an understanding as old as the American theater, the Actors Equity association and the Chorus Equity association voted today to require producers to pay rehearsal expense money.

Under the terms of the resolution which, it is expected, will become effective before the opening of the next season, producers of dramas will be allowed a probationary period of seven days for which they will not have to pay, while musical show producers will be allowed ten days.

Expense rehearsal money of $20 a week will be paid after the probationary periods to all senior Equity members with more than two years experience, while juniors and chorus members will receive $15.

Lily Damita Will Be Married Today

Hollywood, June 18 (AP)—Lily Damita, colorful and tempestuous French screen actress, and Erroll Flynn, a newcomer to Hollywood, announced tonight they would fly to Yuma, Ariz., tomorrow morning and marry.

The couple chartered a special plane today and took every precaution to insure secrecy for their elopement. When there was a slip-up in their plans, they admitted they were going to Yuma.

Miss Damita met Flynn shortly after he came to the United States five years ago from a series of adventures abroad.

The vivacious Lily claims to know more members of royalty by their first names than any living actress. The name "Damita" was bestowed upon her by the former king of spain, Alfonso. The name means "Little Lady." It will be her first marriage. She is 27.

Blood remains alive and germ-free for at least eight hours after death, according to tests.

NATIONS SIGN NAVAL TREATY

Reich Will Limit Tonnage to 35% of England's

BY ALBERT W. WILSON
(Copyright 1935, By The Associated Press)

London, June 18—Great Britain today became virtually boss of Germany's future naval building.

In one of the most remarkable agreements on national defense ever concluded between two sovereign nations, the Reich agreed to limit her fighting ships, by total tonnage and approximately by category, to 35 percent of Britain's.

She agreed further to let Britain set the pace of naval expansion, giving this nation the sole right to decide when the total tonnage of the two fleets shall be raised or lowered.

An exchange of notes between the two governments officially disclosed the terms of the bi-lateral agreement, reached during two weeks of naval conversations here.

Britain made one important concession. She promised to allow Germany to build her submarine fleet—the dread weapon with which she almost won the world war—up to full equality with England's 52,000-ton fleet provided the question be first submitted to "friendly discussion."

Authoritative sources estimated Germany's maximum tonnage, under the agreement, would be 400,000, as compared with France's 650,000.

Britain thus becomes the first of the victorious allied powers to approve a modern first class German navy, including submarines which were specifically forbidden her by the Versailles treaty.

INDIANS ACCEPT NEW ACT, 47-3

Pottawatomies Favor Reorganization at Harris, Wilson

Harris, Mich.—At a referendum election held at the Hannahville Indian school on Monday, the Harris and Wilson band of Pottawatomies accepted the Wheeler-Howard Indian Reorganization Act by an overwhelming majority of 47 to 3.

Under the new plan the tribe will be able to obtain many additional benefits and assume greater responsibilities. Their tribal council will now be recognized as a legal governing organization, the tribe will be able to incorporate and will share in all the appropriations provided for under the new act.

"The Indians have looked forward to this election ever since John Collier, head of the Indian bureau, planned the Wheeler-Howard bill," said John Keshick, chairman of the Pottawatomies tribe. The election marks the first time in American history that the Indian has been asked to approve of rules and regulations concerning his welfare.

Marquette Prison Camp Is Approved By Commissioners

Separation of youthful offenders from hardened criminals by sending them to recovery camps was endorsed by members of the state prison commission, after they visited the camp near Hardwood, in Dickinson county, according to Walter Gries, warden of the branch prison at Marquette. The commission plans to make a further study of the camp project before new plans are made, he said.

Gries pointed out that the Hardwood camp is 94 miles from the Marquette prison and this makes supervision somewhat difficult. Transportation of supplies and equipment is something of a problem. The warden said the prison believes that future development of the camp program should be on state lands in areas closer to Marquette prison for purposes of economy of management and efficient supervision. The prison farm near Mangum, six miles from the prison, would have been a good site for the first camp, Gries said.

The warden announced that the first camp building at the Hardwood camp is nearing completion and about 30 inmates of the prison will be assigned there in the near future. No further building will be done at this camp at this time, he said, as it appears that proposed work in the area can be done by a group of 30 men over a two-year period.

Gladstone Boy Hit By Car Reported To Be Improving

The condtion of Frederick Maxwell, 14, of Gladstone, seriously injured when he was struck by a car driven by Lee Stewart of Manistique Monday night, was reported as somewhat improved Tuesday at St. Francis hospital. The boy has regained consciousness and X-rays probably will be taken today to determine the extent of his head injuries.

Stewart is due to appear for arraignment on the hit and run charge today before Justice A. T. Sohlberg at Gladstone. He was released without arraingnment on $500 bail furnished by Ernest Carlson of Manistique late Monday night.

Jackson (AP)—The annual meetings of the Michigan Fire Prevention Association, the Michigan Fire Underwriter's Association and the Michigan Field Club were held here Tuesday. John C. Ketcham, state insurance commissioner, was the principal speaker at a banquet. On Wednesday the Underwriters and the Field Club will hold a joint meeting at the country club.

ARMED ROBBERY CASE IS SOLVED

Manistique Men Admit Offenses; One Doing Time at Ionia

With the arrest of Francis La Londe, 25, at Manistique, Sheriff William E. Miron announced that he had cleared up the armed robbery which took place at the Garden junction service station on Aug. 21 of last year, and probably other similar holdups and robberies in the vicinity.

Sheriff Miron said that La Londe confessed the highway filling station holdup, and in his confession implicated Lyle Settergren, also of Manistique, who is now doing time at Ionia for another offense. A wire from the reformatory at Ionia informed the sheriff that Settergren had admitted his part in the robbery, and was willing to come to Delta county and plead guilty. Settergren also told the officers where to find a revolver, shotgun, pistol and knife included in the list of stolen weapons. Sheriff Miron went to Manistique, and recovered the guns, one from under a walk at the Clifford Labadie home where it had been hidden by Settergren following a robbery at the E. W. Miller home, next door to Labadie's. A shotgun and automatic stolen from Claude Stagstal in the Garden highway robbery had been sold, but were traced to the present owners and turned over to the sheriff.

Stagstal was attacked by the two men, and the charges in this case include assault with a dangerous weapon as well as robbery armed. The loot included $18, in addition to three cartons of cigarettes, shotgun, revolver, knife and cartridge belt. Sheriff Miron will leave this morning for Pontiac, East Lansing and Ionia, and will bring Settergren back with him for arraignment on the Delta county charge. Officers at the state reformatory have indicated that they will release the prisoner to the sheriff without delay.

FIVE CHARGES

Arraigned before Justice H. E. Ranguette Tuesday afternoon, LaLonde waived examination and was bound over to circuit court under $10,000 bond, which he was unable to furnish, and he was returned to the county jail. Five separate charges were filed against him, including: robbery armed, larceny, felonious assault with intent to do great bodily harm, and assault without intent to murder, Prosecutor William J. Miller reported.

Stephenson Completes Projects Begun When Women Ruled Town

BY ELEANOR VOELKER

Stephenson, Mich.—Man is master of the universe almost everywhere except Stephenson. There, politically speaking, he is only a creature who wears trousers and pays the taxes.

From 1930 to 1932, Stephenson was bossed by its women. In the village election of 1930 the women won complete control of the local government from their spouses, and the next two years saw rigid improvement.

Too Much Economy

This uprising of the women came as a reaction to the former president's rigorous economy. Feminine judgment was obviously necessary in the application of the town money, but any suggestions from the women were opposed. "If you don't use that money," the women threatened, "we will." They nominated a straight women's ticket at a caucus of their own in the primary, and, with one exception, made a clean sweep.

This one exception was the all-important office of village president. Its command was vital to the women's cause. In the election Francis Beaudoin received 90 votes to the 89 of Mrs. Albert Sanders, the leading figure of the women's revolt. An investigation followed. Attorney Earl Lanthier, son of one of the women trustees, represented Mrs. Sanders and insisted that all questionable ballots be set aside. When the smoke of the battle of ballots had cleared away, 28 votes had gone into discard, and Mrs. Sanders was winner, 79 to 74.

Appoint Man Marshal

The women elected to the council were Mrs. Olin Nelson, Mrs. Walter Paine and Mrs. Louis Lanthier. The office of village clerk was won by Mrs. Napoleon LaComb, and the office of village treasurer by Mrs. Carl Winter.

The only man who had any authority in the village was the marshal, Edward Esbrook, and he was appointed by the women.

The women applied their development program soon after entering office. Alleys were rapidly cleaned of debris. Land was purchased for a municipal dumping site. A park project was undertaken.

Stephenson's old and weather-beaten "music hall" was the next target. It was renovated into an up-to-date community center for basketball games, plays, commencement exercises, and various entertainments.

No Rubbish Now

A plan for beautifying the town was introduced by the president and her followers under a "paint-up, clean-up week." To set the example they worked from sunrise to sunset on their homes and front yards. They aroused the men's admiration, and, shortly, their enthusiastic aid.

Today the park project is complete. Shrubbery, flowers and lawn grass have taken the place of rubbish. The "music hall" is now a social center for the community gatherings of Stephenson and its neighboring towns.

Slowly but surely Stephenson's new civic pride has changed it from a country town to a progressive one.

The women's changes were doubtless for the better. However, in the last election their power has suffered a drawback. The treasurer, Mrs. Winter, and three trustees, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Paine and Mrs. Lanthier, have left their positions. Their places have been filled by Walter Steinbrecher, John Oberdoffer, Francis Beaudin and Anton Voelker. Nevertheless, Mrs. Sanders still holds the president's office, and Mrs. LaComb the treasurer's office.

CITY TAX RATE HIGHER IN 1935

Decreases In Valuation Makes Total $15.78 Per Thousand

Due to a decrease in the total valuation of the city of Escanaba, amounting to more than $350,000, and a slight increase in the city budget appropriation, the city tax rate for 1935 will be higher than in 1934 by $1.77 a thousand.

The total valuation of the city of Escanaba, as fixed by the board of review, is $8,013,131.97, compared with $8,373,989.02 in 1934. The city budget calls for $126,451.84 to be raised by taxes. Last year the total tax rate was $14.01 per thousand, and this year it will be $15.78, according to figures compiled this week at the office of city clerk Carl Anderson.

The rate is divided as follows:

General city tax	$11.95
Interest & sinking fund	3.02
Garbage tax	.81
Total	$15.78

HARRIS NEWS

Skrobiak-Martin

Harris, Mich.—At a beautiful June wedding ceremony performed Saturday morning at St. George's church at Bark River, Miss Josephine Skrobiak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Skrobiak of Bark River, became the bride of Emil Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Perronville.

Rev. Fr. D. Joseph Breault, pastor, was celebrant of the nuptial high mass and conducted the marriage service.

Miss Genevieve Skrobiak, sister of the bride was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Evonne Martin, sister of the bridegroom of Perronville, Miss Josephine Kobas, Miss Sophie Barr and Miss Louise Stowicki, all of Bark River. Those who attended the bridegroom were Mike Skrobiak, brother of the bride, Leo Yagodzinski of Bark River, Joseph Glowacki of Perronville and Chester Mroczkowski of Bark River.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father wore a lovely gown of white satin, a long veil of tulle, forming a train and she carried a bouquet of white calla lilies and carnations. The maid of honor wore a gown of blue taffeta.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of light blue mousseline de sole with corresponding accessories, and each carried an arm bouquet of carnations, gladiolas and snapdragons.

A reception was held at the parental home of the bride after the ceremony, followed by a wedding dinner and supper with covers for over two hundred guests.

Mrs. E. Janovosky and son, Donald of Chicago were among guests at the wedding.

CURTIS NEWS

Curtis, Mich.—The baseball game played at Curtis between the Curtis and Rexton teams, resulted in a score of 6 to 1 in favor of the Curtis team.

THE STRAITS BRIDGE

THERE is little likelihood that the proposal to bridge the Straits of Mackinac will go far in view of the fact that a number of Lower Michigan congressman have come out openly in opposition to the scheme.

Congressman Prentiss M. Brown of St. Ignace has been lending his support to the plan. The majority of the residents of his district, the Eleventh, have either favored the proposal or showed a lackadaisical interest that might be considered as tantamount to endorsement.

In Alger and Delta counties there is some agitation for the Au Train canal scheme, another project which is viewed by many people in Michigan as fantastic as the Straits of Mackinac bridge dream. Congressman Brown has been loathe to actively support the Au Train scheme, however, largely because of the opposition that would come from the eastern end of the peninsula, particularly at Sault Ste. Marie where the famous locks are situated.

Figures concerning the cost of the Straits of Mackinac bridge and the Au Train canal projects run as high as $35,000,000 apiece. If advocates of these two projects could realize what a difficult time the proponents of the Isle Royale national park plan are having to scrape up a few thousand dollars to save the Lake Superior island from lumbering despoliation they would have somewhat of a good idea of how hard it will be to get enough money for their pet schemes.

SCIENTIST CALMS FEAR OF DUST STORMS

WITH the threat of widespread dust storms allayed by recent heavy rains, it is comforting to sit back and listen to a less hysterical view of the situation than that shouted to the country by various experts a few weeks ago, when the menace was at its height.

Such view is that of Dr. J. W. Humphrey, of the U. S. Weather Bureau, who discounts the dire prophecies of America's great grain belt turning into a vast unproductive waste.

Only a complete climatic upheaval such as the one that occurred centuries ago to transform fertile North African lands into the Sahara could leave our midwest a desert, the scientist avers.

That transformation came through countless ages while Europe was emerging from its ice cap, an dinvolved great shifting of air currents to new courses as the ice melted beneath their northern ranges.

Therefore, as long as the frozen north remains frozen, Humphrey declares, no radical climatic change is scheduled for this country—and he adds that, though the ice probably will melt there some day, such happening is unlikely for the next 5000 or perhaps 10,000 years.

So it seems, if we take this brighter view, that the prophets of gloom might well seek a new field in which to play their Jeremiah roles, while government officials and farm leaders go intelligently about their task of combating erosion and other factors giving rise to the dust menace.

SUMMER WARNING

THIS being the season of the year when bathing beaches and the old-fashioned swimming hole are doing an overtime business, a repetition of those annual words of caution to bathers might not come amiss.

The cautionary words are few and simple. Don't go into the water for at least an hour after eating; don't go out beyond your depth unless you are an expert swimmer; don't dive into any pool without first ascertaining the depth; don't swim when overheated or overtired; always find out in advance if there are any treacherous currents or undertows in the water where you plan to bathe.

All of these little rules can be summed up more simply in the admonition: use common sense.

Every summer week-end brings its reports of drownings at bathing places. Nearly all of these tragedies could be avoided if bathers used proper care. One of the finest of summer sports, swimming need not be dangerous if the swimmer exercises reasonable forethought.

BOOSTER TOWNS

IT HAS taken Escanaba and other Delta County cities and towns a long time to realize that they really had something to sell the tourist, but when they did wake up it was with a bang. Only a few weeks ago Escanaba put over the biggest "smelt carnival" the state has ever known. Fishermen were attracted from all over neighboring states and came to Escanaba to participate in the carnival and invidentally catch a few smelt. Several tons were boxed and shipped to civic organizations and newspapers throughout the Midwest, all designed to establish this city as the smelt fishing center of the Lake States.

Not content with this, Escanaba, Gladstone and Rapid River, a neighboring town, have jointed hands and will stage another fishing festival June 24-25. This time it is to advertise the bass, pike and perch fishing to be found in the waters of Bay De Noc, adjacent to these communities. Of course another carnival king will be selected, as in the smalt affair. Parades and festivities of all sorts will claim the town for the two days, and even those who really come to fish are being assured that guides will take them to productive fishing grounds so that they can return home and spread the fame of Bay De Noc as profitable fishing waters.

The "never-say-die" spirit displayed by the residents of many of the northern communities who have watched the lumbering, mining and agriculture days pass, and have begun to wonder what industry would save them, was never better displayed than it is now. Most of them have turned to the exploitation of the recreational advantages, of which fishing is the foremost. If properly handled this industry can be made the first throughout the north. Nature gave them the raw material from which to mold a profitable business an dthey now seem to realize that selling recreation may be the salvation of the entire north.—Detroit News.

CHAPTER XXXV

Violet Merser was weeding her rosebed when she saw Michael ride by. It was the first time she had caught a glimpse of him since his accident and since Katharine's amazing disclosure. Katharine had been gone two days now, Stanley Merser was taking steps toward the end the girl was now so anxious to attain—the annulment of that astonishing marriage ceremony a few weeks before.

"The man must be a most horrible villain," Violet said to herself, prodding at the earth about the roots of a Dorothy Perkins. "And yet—he doesn't look like one in the least." She was rather ashamed of her earlier enthusiasm for Michael.

The whole thing was definitely queer. First the boy had engaged himself to Sally Moon. That made him appear a fortune hunter. Then he had run off with Katharine on what seemed now a most cruel impulse, only to behave as though the whole thing had never happened at all.

Violet stood up, brushing her earth-stained hands impatiently together. She ought to go to see him, ought to find out how he stood in the matter before Stan turned the affair over to Adrianson, their discreet lawyer friend.

She washed her hands at the sink in the gleaming small kitchen and called to Lavina who was on the porch, shelling peas for the children's lunch, that she was going to walk up the road a bit. Michael's horse had been headed in the direction of the riding club. And he had been alone. It would be a good time to talk to him.

* * *

As Violet Merser turned into the lane that ran beside the old shingled house she could see the tall figure of the man she sought, standing in the doorway of the stable. A blue September haze hung over everything. Yellow leaves here and there drifted down on the muddy paths. There were wild asters and golden rod blazing in the meadows. Sumach made a scarlet tapestry on the hills.

"Good morning!"

Michael whirled, his eyes clouded, his muscles taut.

"Good morning," he said without smiling. These days were difficult ones to be got through. Strange people were always coming up to him and being brisk and hearty. He had to fend them off as best he could.

Something in the wariness of his attitude put Violet off. All at once she was conscious that her errand lacked dignity. It was not for her to meddle in Katharine's affairs. She said rather lamely, "About the horses—for the little girl. She hasn't been riding lately."

Michael bowed. His tone was formal, aloof.

"Do you mind seeing Jerry, my assistant, about that? I haven't been well lately . . ." He passed his hand over his eyes and, with another stiff little bow, went into the house.

Jerry was at her elbow. Somehow Violet managed to say something coherent to him, to walk away. But her brain was whirling.

"Good heavens!" she cried to herself. "What if that should be the explanation of it all? What if he doesn't really know what happened?"

You heard of such things. To the healthy person such a possibility seemed extremely far-fetched. But Violet knew it was not out of the bounds of reason.

He had been struck on the head, perhaps. The newspaper account had said "multiple bruises." Who could tell what damage had been done?

She walked swiftly toward her own house, eager to put through a telephone call to her husband.

"Stan, have you got in touch with Adrianson yet?"

His slow, reassuring voice answered her. "Have an appointment with him at two. Why? Anything happen?"

She dared not talk over the telephone. Everyone said the exchange operators listened. "Can you postpone it?" she asked. "I think I've hit on something. It may be a hunch. I don't know."

* * *

"I don't understand why you want me to do it so quietly," pouted Sally Moon. "Old Ruthie down at the Innicock News has been calling up every day to see if I've any date to give her. She's anxious to run the story of the wedding, but she doesn't dare say a word about it as long as I tell her to hold off. And probably everyone's talking about me. Probably they say the thing's off."

"I have my reasons," Mr. Moon said solemnly. If Sally weren't so wrapped up in her own affairs, he thought, she would be able to figure out the problem for herself. He wanted all the votes he could get for village trustee and the election was next week. With a big wedding going on and Sally insisting on getting all her flowers and catering things from the city instead of patronizing the local tradesmen (who were sure to be antagonized), the election would be certain to go against him. He knew Innicock. He hadn't been president of the bank for 20 years without learning a good deal about the way the minds of the villagers worked.

He had several reasons for not telling Sally this. The first was that she would not consider the argument weighty enough. She had her own way of over-riding all his objections. The second was that an air of mystery impressed her more than straightforwardness. She was inclined to be a bit mysterious herself. "Sneaky," Mr. Moon called it. Like her mother's people. None of the Moons had been sneaky—all open and aboveboard like himself. Still, a man had to protect his interests against the depredations of his womenfolk. Women had no consciences whatever when they wanted their own way.

He wouldn't be sorry to see Sally married. She'd been a bit of a problem since her mother died. Cocktails, flirtations, all kinds of craziness, her father told himself. This young fellow was good with horses. Maybe he'd hold the whip hand over Sally as well. He chuckled at the thought.

"What are you chortling about?" Sally wanted to know rather angrily. Really her father was being too stuffy about this. It made her tired. But since he held the purse strings there was no fighting him. And she wanted a trousseau that would put everyone's eye out.

"Nothing." He changed the subject hastily. "You going into town today to shop?"

That was always a good way to divert her. Her black eyes sparkled at the thought of trying on clothes, of watching mannequins parade (because this time she was going to the really expensive places and have the very best), and of choosing hats and shoes and cobwebby stockings to supplement those already piled in boxes and bags in her room. Whatever you might say about Daddy Moon, Sally reflected, you couldn't accuse him of being stingy.

* * *

She had read in last night's newspaper of Katharine Strykhurst's departure for the west. And she had felt a tiny prick of relief. While Katharine had been around Sally hadn't felt entirely easy about Michael. He had been restive at times. Sally had suspected in the beginning that he was attracted to Katharine, although why anyone would prefer that cool young woman to her own rather buxom self, Sally could not imagine.

Well, Michael was more tractable since he'd been ill. He really seemed to depend on her these days. She bossed him around as she hadn't dared to do before.

Her cousin, Annabel, was coming on from Syracuse for the wedding. And Michael had been so vague about providing a best man that Sally had wired Annabel to bring her fiance (expenses paid) to serve. Annabel's young man was a fledgling mining engineer with a brand new diploma, Sally, marrying a title, felt very superior.

Well, Annabel and Joseph would arrive on Tuesday, and they would have a rehearsal Tuesday night. Daddy Moon had agreed to that. The wedding would be on Wednesday, and invitations would go out by hand the day before. It was, Sally told herself, a pretty queer way to do things, but her father had some crazy notion in his mind. It didn't do to argue with him when he was like this.

She longed to shout the news from the housetops. But she didn't dare. Well, all the old cats who had been so nasty to her would know soon enough. Let them gnash their teeth then. See how they liked it.

She'd snub them if she ever met them on the street.

Another thing she had to do today. She had to stop at Tiffany's and choose a platinum band that Michael could pay for later. He didn't want to go into the city, he said. She was having to arrange everything. She had even sent out a tailor who was to measure him for correct morning clothes.

She'd thought of everything. There couldn't possibly be a hitch in the proceedings now. A week from Wednesday she would be Lady Carden.

THE PIONEERS

We talk of times, in times like these,
As if we should be born to ease;
They hewed their houses from the trees.

We talk of tasks, as if our toil
Should take an hour and run in oil;
They dug their substance from the soil.

We talk of needs, as though they meant
The cushions of the indolent;
They plowed and sowed, and were content.

We talk of wealth, as if it would
Make all things possible and good;
Wealth was to them a livelihood.

We talk of times, as if alone
By talking fields are cleared and sown;
We talk of times—they made their own.

TRAVERSE CITY HAS CONVENTION

Delta County Prosecutor Will Attend Session June 20, 21 and 22

William J. Miller, prosecuting attorney of Delta county, will attend the sessions of the Prosecuting Attorneys' convention at Traverse City June 20, 21 and 22 and take part in the discussions on scientific evidence in crime and suggested reforms in procedure.

A high spot in the three-day meeting will be the banquet Thursday night, June 20, at which Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald and Malcolm Bingay, managing director of the Detroit Free Press, will be principal speakers. Colonel Heinrich A. Pickert, Detroit police commissioner, will act as toastmaster.

Circuit Judge Parm C. Gilbert of Traverse City, will speak on the Juvenile Probation Camp bill and Dr. L. M. Snyder will discuss Scientific Evidence in Criminal Cases during the afternoon session on the opening day.

Bartel J. Jonkman of Grand Rapids, will preside at the Friday meeting, at which Sergeant Harold Mulbar of the state police will demonstrate the lie detector and Attorney General Harry S. Toy will speak on New Criminal Legislation.

Duncan M. McCrea of Detroit, prosecutor of Wayne county, will speak on Ox Cart Laws that Shackle the Prosecutor and George Brand, president of the Detroit Bar association, will discuss Illegal Practice of the Law.

Saturday will be given over to a program of recreation for the delegates. Laurie Telfer of Port Huron is president of the group.

Punchboard Racket Tried In Peninsula; Merchant Losers

Operators of beer taverns and small stores are being warned to look out for the "punchboard racket," said to be developing in the Upper Peninsula. A proprietor of a beer tavern at Republic was fleeced for $64 Saturday and another merchant on the outskirts of Marquette lost $14.

The system used, according to reports received at Escanaba, calls for three "operators." A man appears in the place of business with the punchboard idea and sells the board to the proprietor for 50 cents. The punches are sold to customers and the winning numbers are scheduled to pay cash prizes.

Several hours later two men enter the store where the confederate has sold the punchboard, and after buying a beer or cigarettes, they punch all the numbers which call for cash payments and the merchant is left with a punchboard on which all the numbers are blank. He can then throw it away, or continue to offer it to his customers at the expense of his reputation.

One trio is alleged to have been working through the Upper Peninsula with their racket.

Carioca Girls With Rubin & Cherry Carnival

A scene in the musical revue "Carioca" coming to Escanaba Monday evening, June 24, for one week. One of the many attractions presented by America's Model Shows, auspices American Legion.

Call for Volunteers To Build Boardwalk On Stephenson Dock

Members of the Escanaba Yacht club, Sea Scouts and other individuals interested in the development of Escanaba's waterfront will participate in the bee that will be started today to put a boardwalk on the old Stephenson dock pilings in front of the Ludington hotel.

The city engineering department delivered a pile of timbers to the site yesterday. A few experienced construction men will be assigned by the city department to direct the work of the volunteer carpenters.

Owing to the fact that all relief clients are employed on projects that must be completed as soon as possible and due to the fact that there is an uncertainty as to just when the new work relief program will be launched, it was decided to use volunteer labor to repair the old dock.

A. V. Aronson, city engineer, said it is planned to put heavy four-foot planks for the deck structure, which will extend for about two hundred feet from shore. The plans call also for an additional 20 feet of sheating to extend to that installed sometime ago, by the Hansen & Jensen company.

Sheating also will be constructed across the north end of the dock. A platform also will be built at the end of the pier. It is also proposed to remove certain pilings on the southeast end of the platform in order to make room for mooring small boats. A railing will be erected on the boardwalk.

All materials and tools will be made available by the city engineering department. The donation of labor is requested however.

Jack Floyd, Scout commissioner, announced last night that Sea Scouts would cooperate in the endeavor.

St. Francis Hospital

The condition of Fern Woodhall of Gladstone who submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis is slightly improved. No visitors will be admitted to her room for several days.

Mrs. Cyril Sinnave of St. Nicholas submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis.

Ione Lucier of Gladstone submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis.

Barbara, one year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Frankovich of Manistique, submitted to an operation for relief from mastoid.

John Mackie of Eben Junction was admitted for treatment for a hand injury.

Model Shows Open Monday At Escanaba

Rubin and Cherry's America's Model Shows will play Escanaba for six days, starting Monday evening, June 24, under the auspices of Cloverland Post No. 82, American Legion, the Legion committee announced Tuesday.

The largest portable amusement park in the world will exhibit here on highway US 2-41 south of the state fairgrounds for six days and nights. This organization claims the greatest aggregation of shows and rides ever shown on one show ground. An outstanding attraction is Etta Louise Blake's "Carioca."

The carioca was originated in the motion picture "Flying Down to Rio." Miss Blake, the producer and owner of the Carioca Revue, spent a number of weeks in Hollywood during the production of the picture, studied the detail of the carioca, and returned an authority on the dance. Being fortified with this knowledge and with the assistance of Miss Fay Bruan, the understudy in the picture, they produced a very elaborate spectacle, using a company of thirty artists, of a calibre never before seen on a show ground. Miss Bruan assisted by the ladies of the ensemble, does the "carioca" as it should be done, the wardrobe used being a copy of the original.

Fan Dancers, Too

Miss Shirley Roberts, the girl that doubled for Sally Rand at the World's Fair, does her sensational fan dance.

Miss Blake imported from Cuba, Mari Martinez, the sensation of the entire island, doing that same Rhuma, and in the same costume that created such a furore at Club Torro, Havana.

The ensemble of six of this country's loveliest girls appear in "Laughing at the Rain," "Beautiful Lady," "My Cellophane Girl," "Boudoir Baby," and "The Dance of the Fans," with Miss Roberts.

A few of the other attractions are Mystic India, South Sea Islanders, "Joe Mendl," the Hollywood movie star chimpanzee, Dixie to Harlem Follies, the Deep Sea Show, the Motordrome, the Reptile Show, the Ripley Side Show, the Bug House, the Castle of Thrills, the Lindy Loop, the Dangler, the Dodgem, the Waltzer, the Rideo, the Marry-Go-Round, and many others including a number of kiddie rides and the Slovers Pony track.

FROSH COLLEGE PRESENTS PLAY

Oscar Wilde's Comedy to Be Given at Junior High Tonight

"The Importance of Being Earnest" will be presented this evening at the W. W. Oliver Memorial auditorium by the members of the Freshman college of Escanaba. The play, a three-act comedy by Oscar Wilde, is recognized as being one of the cleverest plays ever produced. The lines are especially subtle and clever and may be expected to please the most critical of audiences.

The proceeds of the play will be used in the establishment of a library for the Freshman college.

The play will start at 8:15 and a string ensemble, directed by Frank Karas, will furnish incidental music between acts and before the opening curtain.

It is the object of the Freshman college to present something worth while, and the choice of one of Oscar Wilde's plays is an assurance that they are doing so. The author is one of the cleverest conversationalists in the world and his works are included in world anthologies.

The play is directed by Charles Follo, Freshman college instructor.

The cast is as follows:

John Worthing——Glenn Sandberg
Algernon Monrieff—Harold Snyder
Rev. Cannon Chasuble ..... Glenn Hamilton
Merriman .....William Fitzharris
Lane ..... Arvid Norlin
Lady Bracknell .....Clara Karas
Hon. Gwendoline Fairfax ..... Vivian Gleisner
Cecily Cardew....Charlotte Molloy
Miss Prism.....Helen Birmingham

Shoe News--

It was my fortune to be invited by the Peters Shoe Co. at St. Louis to visit their factory and at the same time take advantage of a short course conducted by their experts in shoe fitting, display and modern selling. I have just returned from that interesting and enlightening experience and feel sure that customers of Petersons Shoe Co. will benefit materially from the advantages I secured there. As a result of this trip Petersons Shoe Co. will shortly announce an entirely new and modern method of footwear retailing. In the meantime business will be conducted as in the past with honest value and honest service predominating.

Phyllis Hupy Receives Award

Miss Phyllis Hupy of Gladstone has won a gold emblem for unusual speed and accuracy in a national shorthand test.

Miss Hupy took 600 words of dictation in five minutes, or at the rate of 120 words a minute and then transcribed her notes satisfactorily. She is a student in the shorthand department of Cloverland Commercial college.

The ward was made by the Gregg Writer of New York as a part of its cooperative campaign with business colleges in the United States and Canada to speed up stenographic methods.

Miss Hupy is a graduate of Gladstone High school.

Student Wins Typing Award

Miss Emma McDonough, a Cloverland Commercial college student, has received a gold pin from the Gregg Writer of New York for typing over 60 words a minute for ten minutes without error of any kind. Miss McDonough is a graduate of the Escanaba high school.

DOUBLE FEATURE SHOW

Anne Shirley in "Chasing Yesterday," and "The Devil Is a Woman" with Marlene Dietrich are on the double feature program at the Delft today and Thursday.

That love means more than fame, wealth or even comportable happiness is the theme of "Chasing Yesterday," Anne Shirley's new starring feature.

Based on the novel, "The Crime of Sylvestre Bonnard," by the famous French author, Anatole France, the picture presents the heroine of "Anne of Green Gables" in a stirring drama centering upon the transforming power of love.

Sylvestre Bonnard, noted savant, has won fame and a reasonable amount of wealth. He also thinks he has won happiness.

Then he meets a lovely orphan, the daughter of the girl he had loved and lost in his youth, and the utter emptiness of his life becomes clear.

The warmth, the fervor, the enchantment, the music, the very breathing counterpart of Spain have been magically reconstructed in Hollywood and now they serve as the background for a moving and poignant love tale in Paramount's "The Devil Is a Woman."

Marlene Dietrich, who has won the position of the screen's greatest enchantress with her earlier portrayals, returns as the star of this picture in a typically Carmenesque role. She is the protagonist of the drama, a woman whose smile fires men's imaginations, whose kiss destroys their souls.

Opposite Miss Dietrich are Lionel Atwill and Cesar Romero, as the middle-aged lover and the youthful romantic.

20 Years Ago

WEDNESDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Greenhoot announce the marriage of their daughter, Marguerite, to Dr. Melville B. Fisher of Washington, D. C. Rabbi Dr. Stern performed the ceremony.

Former Senator Isaac Stephenson of Marinette, head of the I. Stephenson company at Wells, celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday anniversary Friday. He was born near Fredericton, New Brunswick, June 18, 1839 and spent his early days on his father's farm and in working at nearby lumber camps. He left his home when 16 years old and went to Milwaukee. He became an employe of the Wells Lumber company and was associated with Daniel Wells for many years. In 1857 he became an operator of camps for himself. He served two years in the Wisconsin legislature and three in Congress. In 1907 he was appointed to fill the unexpiredterm of Senator John C. Spooner, resigned. Then came his election in 1909 and the senate investigation which show that $113,000 was used in the election. About his dinner table at the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morgan, Oshkosh; Mr. and Mrs. Grant Stephenson, Milwaukee; Mrs. Nelson Ludington, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. R. Skidmore; Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Brown; Mrs. I. Watson Stephenson, and W. H. George, all of Marinette.

A strong plea for religious education for youth was made by the Rev. Fr. F. X. Barth in a commencement address at Marquette Friday.

Light Fur Capes Much Favored

London (AP)—Short and three-quarter length light fur capes have replaced the useful jacquette which was worn over a wool dress or skirt and jumper on cool days. These fur capes are also popular for evening wear.

Navy and gray broadtail and white ermine top the list. The capes fit neatly over the shoulders, some with slits to allow the arms to pass through, and generally are not wide around the bottom. Some are collarless and others have a cowl back effect.

Waistcoat Cue For New Dress

London (AP)—The stiff marcella that makes the best backless waistcoats worn with men's tuxedoes is being used by women this summer to make cruising and riverside dance-club evening dresses.

A model displayed has a low-cut back with reveres a la dress waistcoat. The skirt falls in the new wide folds from the waist, and the accompanying short-sleeved coatee is faced with ultra-marine blue cotton to match the gown's wide-stitched belt.

Another design is a short-sleeved dance dress with a black tuxedo bow and Eton collar.

Italian cloth, which lines men's coats, also is being used for women's clothes.

New Hat Made of Ostrich Feathers

London (AP)—A type of ostrich feather trimmed hat has a bunch of curled plumes in front, dipping over the right eye. A band of matching straw attached goes 'round the head and keeps the feathers in place. The top of the head is left bare.

This hat may be of one shade, or the feathers may be dyed two colors, such as lime-green and powder-blue, or pale pink and blue.

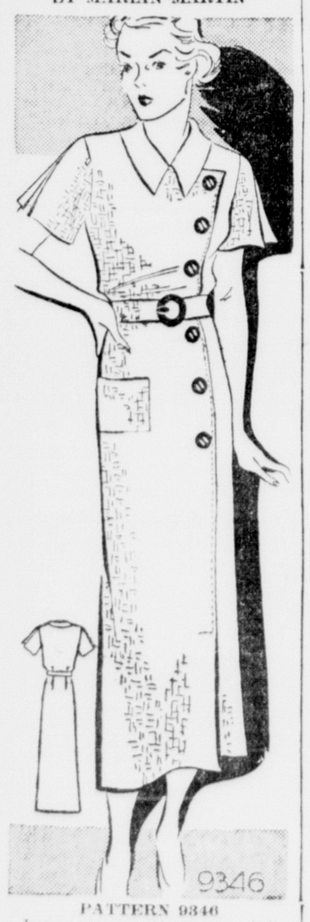
Simplicity Is Essential In Sports Wear

BY MARIAN MARTIN



PATTERN 9346

Long ago smart women definitely eliminated any trace of "fussiness" from their sports and run-about clothes. BUT they still insist on Feminine Smartness—so here's the answer. An inverted pleat in the brief sleeve for freedom and action! A loose pleat below the knee for a good stride! A youthful, flattering collar because you're Feminine! A roomy pocket because you need it — and a side closing for smartness. If you make it of plaid or striped gingham, seersucker or shirting, pick out the brightest hue and match buttons. If you like the luxury of silk be sure it's washable. Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9346 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3 5-8 yards 36 inch fabric.

THEATRES

Picture-lovers who find Will Rogers' brand of humor irresistible—and this includes the entire screen public—are delighted with the news that his latest picture, "Life Begins At 40," is showing at the Rialto Theatre.

Rogers portrays a double-fisted, tender-hearted country editor who proves that the years after forty are the best and goes in quest of the fun-tain of youth. He launches a series of situations that smash the funny bone to smithereens.

"Life Begins At 40," relates the romance of a young school teacher and a youth "railroaded" to prison. The shrewd editor brings to light facts that clears the boy, and stirs up a hornet's nest of fun in the process.

Buckeyes Defeat CCC No. I's, 8 to 4

Defeating the CCC No. 1 ten, 8 to 4, Monday night the Buckeyes garnered their second victory of the season. The conservation workers displayed better form than any time previous this season in the game which was settled mainly by errors.

The Buckeyes jumped into an early lead and had a 5-0 margin going into the fourth. The boys from Camp Polack scored twice in the fourth and twice more in the sixth but were unable to overtake the Grocers who extended their lead in the fifth frame.

E. Palmer of the losers was the most potent stickman of the battle, getting two safeties in three trips to the plate and accounting for two runs in the fourth with a double.

Pelkey, the winning pitcher, allowed but 5 hits and struck out 7 batsmen.

Summary:

Many Women At Opening Session Of Cooking School

A good sized crowd of local women attended the first session of the cooking school and demonstration conducted by Miss Margaret Larsen of the Malleable Iron Range company at the American Legion cottage on Tuesday.

In addition to the demonstration of cooking, Miss Larsen gave a very interesting and educational talk on better methods in cooking with electricity. She baked cakes and biscuits and showed methods of preparing meats and vegetables with a minimum of water in order to preserve the natural flavors and juices of the food. This method is said to be most economical of both the foods and heating of fuel energy.

Even larger attendance at the school sessions is expected this afternoon and evening and tomorrow afternoon. A large number of men are expected this evening as last year the cooking school drew an attendance of nearly as many men as women in evening sessions.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Orr, Fred Orr, Jr., Robert Westcot and Mrs. A. W. Cockram will return today from Marquette. Mr. and Mrs. Orr attended the Diocesan convention held in Marquette Tuesday and Wednesday.

JUNE COURT SESSION OPENS

Francis LaLonde Given to Delta County Officials for Trial

The June term of circuit court opened here on Monday afternoon with Judge Herbert W. Runnels of Sault Ste. Marie presiding. It is expected that the court will be in session all of today and possibly part of Thursday morning.

The case of Francis LaLonde, charged with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder, was continued and LaLonde was released in custody of Sheriff Wm. Miron of Delta county for trial in Delta county on a charge of robbery armed.

Leo Kerridge, against whom the same charge is lodged, was arraigned and entered a plea of not guilty. His plea was accepted and the case continued until the September term of court, when there will be a jury.

The balance of the Monday session of court was taken up with civil and chancery matters, as the third criminal action on the calendar, involving James Hayden on a desertion charge, was continued.

SOCIAL

Co-Hostesses

Mrs. Ray VanDyck and Mrs. Joseph VanDyck, Jr., were co-hostesses at a delightful combination get-acquainted and shower party, complimentary to Mrs. Ossie Smits, Monday evening at the former's home on South Front street.

The guests formed four tables of hearts and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Merle Handen, first, Mrs. William Mueller, second, and Mrs. George Mero, consolation. Delicious refreshments were served at the conclusion of the games and the honored guest was presented with several very pretty gifts. Beautiful bouquets of spring flowers were used in the home decorations.

Mrs. Lee Fox, of Muskegon, was an out of town guest at the party.

Find Man Dead In Shack, Mile South Of Seney

Christ Spiker, about 60 years of age, was found dead in his shack home about a mile south of Seney on Monday morning. He was found by a neighbor, George Tolle, and the coroner and sheriff notified.

Tolle, failing to see Spiker about the place looked in at the window and saw him lying on the bed, apparently dead. The door to the shack was bolted from the inside. When the coroner arrived the door was broken open and the man examined. He apparently had died during the night of natural causes.

The body was taken to the Sven Johnson morgue to be prepared for burial. The man has no known relatives in this part of the country and while no attempt is being made to locate relatives, arrangements for the funeral will be postponed.

Postpone Legion Picnic To Later Date In Summer

A decision to postpone the Legion's community picnic which had been planned for Sunday, June 23, was reached at a meeting on Monday evening. It was felt by members of the committee that the weather had not become sufficiently warm to make the undertaking a success.

The belief that later in the summer, a picnic could be held with more chances of a general attendance, led the committee to announce that further notice of the picnic would be given when a new date is set.

Miss Maria Schuster arrived home Sunday from Milwaukee after completing her work in the Occupational Theropy Department at Milwaukee Downer.

Mr. and Mrs. William Morden are the parents of a seven pound baby boy, William Edward, born Saturday afternoon at their home on Chippewa avenue.

CITY BRIEFS

Mrs. Kenneth Cutler, Mrs. Andrew Fakety and Mrs. Cecil Johnson attended the birthday party given at the Hiram Squires home in Thompson Monday.

James D. Herro, Mrs. Andrew Fakety, and Mrs. Cecil Johnson motored to Escanaba Sunday to visit with Mrs. Herro and infant son, James Nathan.

Warren Pierce, principal of the Rudyard high school, visited in the city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schuetter, Manistique avenue, have named their baby son, Charles Herman. The baby, who was born last Wednesday, and mother are both getting along nicely.

Miss Elizabeth Falk is visiting in Petoskey for several days.

Rev. S. T. Bottrell motored to Engadine yesterday to conduct services at the Methodist church.

Boyd Bolitho, who attends the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, was expected to arrive last evening to spend the summer months with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Bolitho, 440 Arbutus avenue.

George Lindenthal arrived Monday from East Lansing and will spend the summer vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lindenthal, 124 South Second street. Mr. Lindenthal is a student at Michigan State college.

William Miron and Harold Johnson, of Escanaba, visited in the city Monday.

Mrs. William Dehut and daughter, Gladys, left yesterday for a week's vacation visit with relatives in Clintonville, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson, of Whitedale, were called to Fayette Monday evening by the critical condition of the former's uncle, John Follo.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Olson and children, of Gladstone, spent Sunday at their cottage on Harrison Beach.

Charles Redeker, Jr., was admitted to the Shaw hospital Tuesday for medical treatment.

Independence Day Committees Plan Budgets Tonight

Members of the Fourth of July celebration committees will hold a meeting at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock this evening at which the finances of the event will be further discussed.

The budgets of the various committees will be arranged and progress of the various committees now at work will be reported upon. A discussion of the aims and plans of the general committee will also take place. Because of a wish to have everything in readiness well before the time of the celebration comes, all members of the committees are urged to be present.

Cayia Wins First Indian Lake Club Golf Tournament

Despite the inclement weather on Sunday there were twenty-three entries in the blind bogey tournament that opened the competitive events of the season at the Indian Lake golf course. Fred Cayia was first and Ian McKilligan and F. Hoholik went into a tie for second.

Dave Eckberg, club pro, announced yesterday that there would be two blind bogey tournaments on next Sunday.

HONOR PUPILS ROTARY GUESTS

Club Entertains Group of Seniors at Luncheon Monday Noon

The Manistique Rotary club entertained the honor students of the 1935 high school senior class at the club's regular noon luncheon on Monday. Students who were guests of the club were: Roma Bergman, Sagwald Carlson, Pearl Christensen, Chester Currie, Philip Ellefson, Nelson Freeland, George Goudreau, Ruth Grosa, Genevieve Hupfer, Kurt R. Mattson, Doris Mumford, Richard Neville, Myrl Olsen, Mildred Ostlund, Mabel Slough, Fern Smith, Marion Squires and Jane Vezina.

R. H. Wilson introduced each of the honor students to the club and Dr. Glen A. Blackburn was the speaker of the occasion. Dr. Blackburn stressed the fact that brains and scholarship are things for which school students should strive. He told the students that in the long run, those who have been able to earn high marks in school will have the best chances for success.

Although the Rotary club has entertained other groups of students on various occasions, this is the first time that the senior honor students have been so honored. The meeting proved to be one of the most interesting and enjoyable of the year.

In recognition of the unique event, Mrs. Monroe had the tables appropriately decorated with flowers of the class colors, blue and white.

Mrs. Mary Cota returned Monday evening from Garden where she has been spending the past three weeks.

BY FRANK MAC MILLEN
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, June 18 (AP)—The stock market bulls nibbled away at the share list today. Rails seemed to their taste, along with a few specialties, but their appetite was not voracious.

Early carloadings reports for individual roads supplied a convenient background for the rail buyers. Better traffic was reported by such roads as Chesapeake & Ohio, North Western, Illinois Central, Pere Marquette and Nickel Plate.

Comment in brokerage quarters revolved about the possibility of a technical set-back. This probably accounted to a considerable extent for the small turnover in the stock exchange, which amounted to only 885,430 shares.

Utility advances were generally small. Public Service of New Jersey made a new high at 36 5-8, but closed a little below its bets.

The report of Caterpillar Tractor for the first 5 months of this year showing earnings of $1.28 a share was a high light of corporate news. In the same period a year ago net was 88 cents a share. Pennsylvania Railroad, however, showed only 32 cents a share earned in the first four months of 1935 against 46 cents in the like 1934 period.

Among gainers of fractions to around a point were Santa Fe at 47, Delaware & Hudson at 32¾, Illinois Central at 15½, New York Central at 18¾, Union Pacific at 105¼, Allied Chemical at 154, American Can at 140½, American Telephone at 128, American Tobacco "B" at 92¾, Caterpillar Tractor at 48¾, Du Pont at 163½, Macy at 40¾ and Public Service of N. J. at 36½.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, June 18—Gains of one to two cents a bushel were scored by wheat and corn futures today as the grain market reflected trade advices of unfavorable crop conditions in parts of the winter wheat and nearby corn belts because of excessive rainfall.

Corn led the advance on reports of further planting delays, particularly in central Illinois and Missouri. Wheat buyers acted on talk of a wet harvest from the southwest.

Wheat prices rose 1 1-8 to 1 3-4 cents above the previous finish, closing with July 81 3-4 to 81 7-8, and corn was 1 1-8 to 1 3-8 higher, July 81 7-8 to 82. Oats gained 5-8 to 3-4. Rye 1 to 1 3-8 and barley was uncharted. September corn sold as high as 76 3-4 at one time, the best price this month and four cents above yesterday's low point. July corn sold above July wheat, a rare situation in the futures market.

The forecast indicated fair and warmer weather in the southwest and this led to caution in taking the bulge side of wheat. Rains in the Ohio and Canadian northwest were regarded as beneficial.

Despite a future decline in hogs, prices for lard were steady.

New York, June 18 (AP)—After loafing around most of the day without showing much change, the corporate bond market came to life during the final hour of trading today when renewed activity in junior rails lifted many 1 to 2 points. U. S. governments were steady.

A large assortment of industrial and utility bonds, which like the rails, had backed and filled in a narrow trading area were pulled into the upward movement but there was a higher degree of selectivity in these groups than elsewhere and a number ended unchanged to a trifle lower.

Especially firm spots included Utility Power & Light 5½s, up 5½ at 46¾, Paramount Famous Players 6s, up 1½ at 93½, New Orleans, Texas & Mexico 4½s, up 2½ at 29½, Missouri Pacific 5s, up 2¼ at 29¼, Illinois Central 5s, up 3 at 83½, Columbia Gas 5s, up 1 7-8 at 86 7-8, Japanese 5½s, up 1 1-8 at 88 5-8, Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, up ¾ at 53½, and Atlantic Coast Line 4½s, up ¾ at 79.

Government bonds had an uneventful day.

Prices Are Mixed In Trend On Curb Mart

New York, June 18 (AP)—Prices were mixed in trend on the curb exchange today. Trading, however, was quiet.

Steady to slightly higher tendencies appeared in American Cyanamid "B." Distillers Corp.-Seagrams and Creole Petroleum. A lower price drift was reflected in shares of Bunker Hill & Sullivan, Hiram Walker, Humble Oil, Lake Shore, Pan-American Airways, Sunshine Mining and International Petroleum.

Seek Tourist Funds

Menominee — Contributions and pledges to the tourist drive fund of the 1935 Greater Menominee summer program have been growing constantly, and the fund has received a total of $3,165 to date.

Other contributions are in prospect, and it has been announced by the committee that in the event there may be some who have not yet been approached, they may if they are so inclined make the contribution now. The donations will be gratefully received and acknowledged.

As the new donations are made the list of donors will be revised to include them and will be published. The contributions may be mailed to Lewis Larsen, chairman of the Committee, headquarters at 507 Sheridan road.

It has been announced that the goal of the tourist fund drive is $3,500. This amount has been held to be needed if the summer program is to be effectively put over.

CONFERENCE OF UNIONS

Dear Editors,

Last Sunday I listened to a score or more of short talks in the Labor Hall in Gladstone by delegates from Farm Unions, A. F. of L. and a number of other Unions each presenting the aims of his own union. All had grievances to register and they came here from all over the State to talk about them and devise remedies. The farmers wanted bigger prices, when he sells and less prices when he buys. The city folks demanded lower prices. All wanted shorter weeks of work and bigger wages per hour of work. One speaker said $20 per day could be paid. Some wanted to pay no profits to capital, and a very low interest rate. One man thought 1 percent was enough to pay. Many of them wanted more relief and wanted it distributed more equitably. The farmers wanted cost for production and wanted the government to make up any shortage. They all wanted pensions for the old and benefits for those unemployed and the sick, and all wanted lower taxes—all who had property, I take it. At this Conference they are trying to harmonize their claims and make a drive to for a law to grant them.

Well, here is wishing them luck. But it seems to me if we take a survey of the business in the U. P. very few, if any, are making money. The railways are not. The mines are not nor are the factories, not even the lumber men and paper men. The stores are not making money, not even the banks though they got some good slams from some of the delegates. The professional men are all hard up. It seems to me these orders are pretty big ones for the U. P. in its present condition. To me it seems just impossible. In settling such questions we must not forget that each community must take care of its own people, for each community in the country is as hard up as we are. They have as many per thousand to care for as we have.

Can the U. P. take care of its own people and meet such demands as these people make? Collect the money and pay the bills among ourselves? It falls solely on us in the end. This is the way these Unions should look at these matters. Each county must support itself and its own people. The farmers demand cost of production but can we make this good to them? A bumper crop is in sight from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Gulf to Lakes and it will be harvested but this condition means low prices and no profits and a page of A.A.A.'s can't change it.

Can the U. P. pay the farmers fifty cents per hour for their time? This was the minimum fixed by these delegates if we are to keep up the standard of American living. It may be I am pessimistic but see no hope for lower taxes, for all public servants are demanding bigger pay. Taxes might be shifted some but they would be taxes just the same. A tax on incomes could be levied and I will suggest a tax on all incomes over $1000 per year and graduate it as it gets larger. I think there is merit in the claim for lower interest and it would help a lot by lifting the burden off the debtors.

The stock gamblers in Wall Street can get money for less than 1 percent and on long time too. But The Federal Land banks are charging 5 percent to the farmers, and they can not pay it, and probable never can; and loans are being insured to the banks at 5½ percent for building homes. Only those having good incomes can pay this rate, but loans are being made at these rates by the billions. Rates the country can't pay.

It is the interest burden that brought on this depression and that is holding it on us. Interest is a fixed charge on all business it rests on and it has crushed us. Our interest burden is at least 12 billions a year and this is a quarter of our total income. It is too much to take out of industry and turn over to investment purposes. If half of this interest charge was kept in the industry and paid out to labor each year it would have a marvelous effect on all kinds of business. I believe it would end the depression in six months time. And on some classes of businesses perhaps profits could be cut some too, even in these hard times. But in good times they could be cut a lot on nearly all lines of business. There is plenty in this country for all of us and all that is required for happiness is a better distribution of this wealth.

Big Works Program

Menominee—Proposed works in Menominee city and county totaling $2,043,000 in the federal government's work relief campaign were listed yesterday by Municipal Judge Matt F. Bilek when an immediate tentative listing of projects was requested by state ERA headquarters.

Judge Bilek, chairman of the Menominee County Relief Commission, which will administer the federal government's work relief program in Menominee county, had called a meeting for 1 p. m. today in city hall at which civic groups, school and local governmental officials were to propose projects for inclusion in the federal government's work program, designed to take work-men from direct relief rolls. The meeting was held this afternoon and all tentative projects were reviewed.

California Bears Win 4-Mile Poughkeepsie Race

CORNELL TAKES SECOND PLACE

Finish of Varsity Event Is Close, Washington Finishes Third

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 18. (AP)—By the slender margin of three-fifths of a second, a scant ten feet of deck-length, the University of California's brawny Golden Bears stood off Cornell's closing challenge this evening and captured one of the most thrilling four-mile varsity races ever rowed on the Hudson river.

California's third successive triumph in the big race completed the first far western sweep in the history of the intercollegiate championship regatta. The University of Washington scored decisive victories in both the freshmen two-mile and the junior varsity three-mile races.

Cornell saved the regatta from being a complete rout of the eastern "old guard" by fighting it out with the highly-favored Californians throughout the last mile. Finishing second in a race so close that it first looked as though the Ithacans had won, Cornell left Washington's varsity struggling two lengths behind, in third place. Next in order across the finish were Navy, Syracuse, Pennsylvania and Columbia.

Only 20,000 Fans

After Washington captured the "Jayvee" race with an all-sophomore crew, the same boatload that was victorious as a freshman unit last year, they faced a great chance to make it three in a row. Its varsity eight showed the way for upwards of two miles but the Huskies couldn't keep it up.

Since 1914, when the "Jayvee" race was added to the regatta, no college has ever scored a clean sweep. Cornell used to make pretty much of a habit of monopolizing rowing honors. The Ithacans last won the varsity four-mile battle in 1930 but they came within a fraction of a second this evening of gaining the heights again in as exciting a finish as the old river has ever witnessed.

Rowed under rainy, chilly weather conditions, the regatta was witnessed by the smallest crowd in any year since the war. Scarcely 20,000 looked on from shores, boats and a 16-car observation train.

Navy's big varsity boatload, stroked by burly Joe Hood, had been the eastern choice to lead the challenge to the great far western crews, but first Syracuse and finally Cornell made the gestures that proved most threatening.

Navy dropped back, after a flying start, while Syracuse pulled into second place in pursuit of the high-stroking Washington eight. For a mile and a half the Orange kept within at least a length of the Huskies. Then Cornell made its first bid, stepping up the beat to pass Syracuse at the two-mile mark. California, rowing easily, moved into third place.

Going into the third mile less than a quarter-length separated Washington, Cornell and California, rowing in that order. Gradually the Huskies yielded their early margin. They did not crack but they were finding the pace increasingly stiff to meet. For a short distance, it seemed California was steadily forging ahead, but Cornell answered with a spurt that carried the big Red crew into the lead at the spidery railroad bridge, marking the end of the third mile. Syracuse had begun to slip back.

Thousands Cheer Cornell

It was strictly a duel between California and Cornell for the final mile. Both crews put on the pressure but neither was able to shake off the other.

Battling through the last furlong, it was still either crew's race but with the finish within reach, California's sophomore pacemaker, Gene Berkenkamp, got just enough extra drive into the final sprint to shove the Golden Bear shell, across the line a scant deck-length ahead of the Cornell boat propelled by the stroking of Don Hart of Brooklyn.

Thousands ashore thought Cornell had crossed the line first and the yells of big Red partisans echoed from the highlands of the Hudson, only to turn to groans when the official verdict came. Although it was close, there was no dispute as to California's triumph.

California's winning time, 18 minutes, 52 seconds, was the second fastest in the history of the varsity race. The Golden Bears set the record when they won the 1928 race in 18:35 4-5. Only three other crews, Cornell in 1901 and 1903 and the Navy in 1931 have rowed the four-mile course in less than 19 minutes.

Kalamazoo (AP)—Peter A. Magas, first governor of the 18th district, order of Ahepa, when the district was organized in 1930, was named to the office against Tuesday at the closing session of the Greek fraternal organization's convention here. Muskegon was chosen as the 1936 convention city. Other officers named were George Stavron, Muskegon, lieutenant governor; Thomas State, Benton Harbor, secretary; Thomas Fisher, Toledo, treasurer and Nicholas Zafires, Flint, marshal.

Tigers Sharpen Their Claws for New York

Detroit, June 18. (AP)—All the resources of the Detroit Tigers were mobilized tonight for the series with New York which opens at Navin Field Wednesday afternoon in a doubleheader bill.

Detroit and New York will play four games on this trip, and with the Tigers tied with Cleveland for third place and only a few points out of second place, Mickey Cochrane has decided to toss everything he has into the fight with the Yankees.

The Tiger pilot is still convinced, he said, that New York is the team to beat for the flag, and if the Bengals can do better than break even with Joe McCarthy's club, the lead of the flying Yankees will be considerably reduced.

Tommy Bridges will pitch the first game, seeking his tenth consecutive victory. Alvin Crowder will work the nightcap. Rowe, Sullivan and Auker, will also be ready for firing line duty.

The Yankees will be a different team than the seventh place Athletics who left in the rain today after losing three straight to Detroit. Wet grounds and rain prevented the playing of the last two of the five game series.

New York has been getting the benefit of good pitching and timely hitting, and like the Tigers, the Yanks will have the full strength of their pitching corps to throw into the four game series here. Gomez will oppose Crowder while Johnny Broaca will hurl against Bridges.

Jennings Is Developer Of Noted Track Stars

Ralph Metcalfe, U. S. Olympic star and holder of many world speed records; Pete and Jack Walter and Art Ravensdale, members of the Canadian Olympic teams of 1928 and 1932; Leon Schram, Escanaba midget pole vaulter; Gene Ronzani, Man Mountain javelin thrower of Iron Mountain; and many other track and field stars of national fame are numbered among the products of Con Jennings, Marquette University coach and athletic director. Jennings is director of the coaching school which will be held at Blaney Park next week.

A native of Kansas, Jennings graduated from the University of Michigan where he learned his track under the well known Keene Fitzpatrick and Alfred Kraenzlein, two of the most famous names in the thinclad sport. Following several years in forestry work in the Northwest, Jennings went to Milwaukee where he was coach at West Division high school. He was so successful there, that he was signed in 1922 as coach at Marquette University and in 1926 was made athletic director. Starting at scratch, Jennings put the Milwaukee school in the top flight and has made Milwaukee one of the most ardent track towns in the country.

A few years ago, the Marquette mentor set out to bring a track meet to Milwaukee which would rival the annual Big Ten meet both in competition and interest. A master promoter and showman, Jennings, in a couple year's time, made the Central intercollegiates one of the outstanding track and field meets in the country. Among the famous stars who have appeared in the meet are: Jesse Owens, Ohio negro sprinting sensation; Ralph Metcalfe, Jack Torrance, Louisiana State shot putting behemoth; Glenn Hardin, L. S. U. and Olympic hurdler; Chuck Hornbostel, Indiana star; and many others of note in the collegiate world.

PITTS TO SIGN NEW CONTRACT

Former Prisoner to Get Into Lineup First Time Sunday

Albany, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—Edwin C. "Alabama" Pitts, permitted to enter professional baseball by a decision of Commissioner Landis, was ready tonight to sign a second contract offered by the Albany club of the International league in compliance with Landis' ruling.

Pitts was notified that the new contract, which will bar him from participating in exhibition games, will be ready for his signature at noon tomorrow. Commissioner Landis decided that Pitts could play organized baseball so long as his contract ruled out exhibition games.

Both General Manager Johnny Evers and Al Mamaux, playing manager, said they expected to keep Pitts out of the lineup until the next afternoon game—Sunday.

"Alabama" tried his hand at public speaking at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Albany Kiwanis club.

"Ever since I've been out," he said, "people have been good to me. I'm glad I have the opportunity to make good and I know that I will."

DIAMOND BALL

ACES LOSE AGAIN

The Republicans defeated the Aces 9 to 2 last night in a six inning game. The score follows:

Aces	101 000	2	6 4
Republicans	104 40x	9	12 2

Racine and Chase; Bergeson and Johnson.

WEST END WINS

The West Ends defeated the Farmers, 7 to 6, in a league game last night. The West Ends, however, only made six hits to seven for the losing Farmers.

PLAY TONIGHT

The Spads did not play their scheduled game last night because of rain but it will be played off on Friday night.

ROOKIES WIN TWO

The Rookies took a pair from the N. C. team yesterday, 17 to 3, and 15 to 2. Hansen and Frederickson worked the first game for the Rookies and Frederickson and Johnson the second. Jensen and McMartin were on duty in both games for the N. C. team.

The Inland-Indians game will be played off at 6:45 o'clock tonight. All games will be played at the junior high school diamond.

Boucher Will Not Compete For Cup

Montreal, June 18. (AP)—Frank Boucher, veteran New York Rangers center and seven times winner of the Lady Byng trophy awarded annually to the most sportsmanlike and most skillful player in the National hockey league, has decided to withdraw from competition for the trophy.

"I think you will agree that I have had more than my share of the cup," said Boucher in a letter to President Frank Calder.

Highland Twilight Matches Tonight

The Highland golf club twilight league games were rained out last night but all matches will be played tonight, it was announced by club officials.

In their first "quarter" of the present campaign the Giants stole 10 bases, more than half as many as they swiped in all of '34.

SCHMELING IS READY TO FIGHT

Would Like to Face Braddock in Title Match in Europe

Potsdam, Germany, June 18 (AP)—Max Schmeling is willing to go to America for a crack at James J. Braddock's new heavyweight title, but he isn't going until every possibility of getting Braddock into a European ring has been exhausted.

Although reluctant to do much talking, Schmeling pointed out he is under contract to Walter Rothenberg, German promoter, until September 17 and can not fight under anybody else's auspices until then even if he wanted to.

"Wait until after I fight Paulino Uzcudun," he said. "If I beat him we can lay our plans. I don't want to be caught like Max Baer was because of too much talking."

Meanwhile in Hamburg, Rothenburg let it be known he is keen to bring Braddock across to meet Schmeling and will guarantee the former $150,000 to fight the German in a neutral country in September.

He told the Associated Press he also would reimburse Braddock for any loss he might sustain by breaking his contract with the Madison Square Garden Corporation which has him signed for the first defense of his title.

JOHNSTON FIRM

New York, June 18 (AP)—Jimmy Johnston, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, who would like to stage a world's heavyweight title fight between champion James J. Braddock and the German Max Schmeling here in September, said tonight there isn't a chance of Bradock going to Europe for his first title defense.

"We've got Braddock signed and that's all there is to it," said Johnson.

There also is a possibility that Max Baer, the dethroned champ, will come back into the Garden fold.

Baer, who has had a feud on with the Garden, called Johnston and hinted he would fight again under the Garden banner if given a chance with the champion.

"I told him to bring Ancil Hoffman (his manager) in and we'd talk it over," said Johnston. "Baer is signed to meet the Carnera-Louis winner and he might be bumped again. We'll see what he does in that fight."

CUBS LOSE, 6-3

The Indians won from the Wells Cubs, 6 to 3, in hardball yesterday. Jensen and Fletcher were the Indians' battery and Strand and Bisdee worked for the Cubs.

Kalamazoo (AP) — Lawrence Downs, 45, Kalamazoo salesman, was killed early Tuesday when his car was struck by a Michigan Central freight train at the Elm street crossing here. He is survived by a widow and a small daughter.

Backs Pitts' Plea

The decision of Judge Kenesaw Landis permitting Alabama Pitts, former Sing Sing inmate, to play organized baseball, was gratifying to Billy Sunday (above), who quit baseball for evangelism. He had said he would try to aid Pitts. (Associated Press Photo)

Entire Ball Sked Postponed By Rain

New York, June 18. (AP)—For the second time this season, the entire major league baseball schedule was washed out today.

On May 2, when only 3 games were scheduled, rain forced the postponements of all contests. Today, however, 14 teams were slated to get into action. The postponements struck another blow at the owners' pocketbooks, especially at Chicago where the New York Yankees, American league leaders, and the second place White Sox, were rained out for the third straight day, after playing only one of their five-game series.

Boston and Cincinnati were not scheduled in the National league.

Big Rapids (AP) — One person was killed and four others injured in an automobile accident at Mecosta Tuesday. The dead: Mrs. Emma Pelton, about 68, of Tribley, O. The injured: Mrs. Florence Amtsbuecher of Tribley and three of her four daughters, Mrs. Amtsbuecher, driver of the car, said a passing truck threw mud on the windshield, causing her to lose control of the car which crashed into a tree.

NEW PLAYERS MAKING GOOD

Rogers Hornsby's Swaps Proves to Very Fine Advantage

St. Louis, June 18 (AP)—Rogers Hornsby of the Browns, whose managerial astuteness was under considerable question following recent swaps with other American League clubs, saw himself vindicated today in the clouting records hung up by two of his late acquisitions — Outfielders Julius Solters and Ed Coleman.

There were howls a-plenty from the home fans when "Trader" Hornsby let Philadelphia have the veteran right hand hurler, George Blaeholder, in exchange for "Sugar" Cain and Coleman. There were still more when the Rajah announced he had boosted the club's financial status by trading Oscar Melillo, star defensive second baseman, to Boston for Solters and an unannounced amount of cash.

The two fielders, however, almost at once ranked at the top of the Brownie batsmen. Their impressive showing on the road and their performance at the plate during their last nine home games has silenced all criticism and provided more than a mild headache to their former owners.

Waging a friendly duel for team batting honors, the two broke even with a .333 average in their six games here with the league leading Yankees and three with the sixth-place Washington Senators.

In the first three weeks after joining the Browns May 27 Solters, one of the huskiest hitters in the major leagues, batted at a .397 clip and knocked five home runs—three more than Melillo, for whom he was traded, turned in all last season.

In their nine home games the two rivals have between them accounted for 30 of the 45 runs scored by the last place Browns. In that time Coleman has poled four home runs and Solters five.

The last big league pitcher to hurl and win two complete nine-inning games in one afternoon was Emil Levsen, who turned the trick for Cleveland against Boston on August 28, 1926.

FILM TO TELL MOOSE STORY

Conservation Department Makes Picture of Winter Work

As an outgrowth of the moose trapping and other experimental work carried out on Isle Royale by Paul Hickie and Ellsworth St. Germain last winter, and of the transfer of 11 captured moose to the mainland this spring the conservation department is now assembling one of the most unusual and interesting wildlife motion pictures it has ever made.

Work on the picture was begun by the education division of the department early last week. The film will be ready for release probably within the next two or three weeks.

It will depict the history of the Isle Royale moose herd from the time of its arrival on the island in 1912, showing browsing conditions as they existed on the island then and how the fast growing herd depleted the available browse until starvation resulted.

It will include the live-trapping operations this last winter and show how the newly captured moose reacted to captivity. A motion picture camera was among the equipment taken to Isle Royale by Hickie and St. Germain and they made a complete film record of the winter's work.

Shows Crating, Loading

The picture also will show in detail the work of crating the moose and loading them aboard the conservation department's boat for shipment to the mainland and the release of nine of the animals in the Cusino game refuge near Munising.

The highlight of the film is afforded by a big bull that wandered down to the Holger Johnson cabin in mid-winter and engaged in a spirited battle with the Johnson dog.

The moose, thoroughly angered by the attacks of the dog, drove the latter to cover inside the woodshed. Mrs. Johnson then came to the door of the cabin and threw stove wood at the bull in an effort to drive him away. Further enraged at this assault, the moose turned upon her, striking the door of the woodshed with his forefeet as she slammed it shut.

From a vantage point a short distance away Hickie recorded the entire affray with his motion picture camera.

This was by no means the only brush with angry moose that enlivened the winter for Hickie and St. Germain and the Johnson family.

They looked out from the breakfast table one morning, while Violet Johnson was at the radio key in the schoolhouse a short distance down the shore of Chippewa harbor, to see a bull walking past the schoolhouse door. For a few minutes it seemed probable she would emerge and meet the moose face to face without warning. The bull wandered back into the hills before she finished her morning broadcast, however.

Dog Gave Warning

On one occasion Hickie, armed with the motion picture camera, followed a cow that had retreated into the timber near the house after a brisk battle with the dog. He had gone only a short distance when the dog, scouting ahead of him, whirled suddenly and came back, tail between legs.

Knowing that the angry moose would be on the dog's heels Hickie wheeled to run. Over his shoulder he saw the cow coming and he declares she made 50 yards while he ran 10 paces. He slipped and went down in the snow when the moose was nearly upon him and the only thought he can recall is wondering how she overtook him so quickly. She struck out at him as she went past, bruising his leg slightly. Fortunately she was too intent on catching the dog to bother with the man.

A few yards down the trail she accomplished her purpose and sent the luckless dog rolling over and over in the snow with savage blows of her front feet. The dog made its escape by running back between her legs and Hickie scrambled to safety while the moose-canine battle raged. That was one scene he did not succeed in photographing.

The behavior of the moose changed greatly as winter advanced, Hickie says. Wary at first, they grew tamer as the pinch of hunger began to make itself felt and before spring small bands of the animals were encountered that lay in the snow and paid no heed to them, walking past within 100 feet of them.

When browse was cut for food the moose ran off a short distance, only to return almost at once and feed on the tops of the new fallen trees.

"It was quite a surprise to us when he met the first ones that didn't dash away from us in fright," Hickie comments. "One thing we learned. When a moose lays back its ears and starts your way it's time to move and move quickly."

One cow taken in the live-trap late in the winter hung around the corral for several days after her calf was captured, refusing to leave and showing little fear of humans. By walking slowly after her it was possible for Hickie and St. Germain to keep her moving around and around the corral just outside the fence.

Moving ahead of them in this fashion one morning, she entered a small feeding enclosure separated from the main corral by high bars. St. Germain rushed up to the gate of the enclosure to block it, shouting to Hickie to come up. "We've got her!" he called, standing in the gate with wide-spread arms.

From a short distance away Hickie saw the cornered cow wheel, ears laid back in the tell-tale sign of rage. He shouted a warning and St. Germain went scrambling over the high corral fence none too soon as the moose rushed by just below him. A day or two later, however, she was caught in the live-trap and released in the corral without difficulty.

The moose captured early in the winter showed great resentment at confinement, trying the corral fence repeatedly. In the pictures taken by Hickie their angry efforts at escape are interesting contrast, with their quieter behavior later on, after a larger herd had been taken and the animals had quieted down.

The behavior of the individual moose in the corral varied widely, Hickie relates. Some were fairly quiet at the start, while others never lost their wildness and wariness to any extent.

PLAN JULY 4 CELEBRATION

Development Club Asked to Furnish $590 to Finance Program

Munising, June 18—The American Legion submitted an estimate to the Development Club last evening, totaling $590 that they thought would be needed to finance a Fourth of July celebration this year. The Legion has accepted the responsibility of sponsoring a celebration this year providing the Development Club provides the necessary funds to put on an appropriate celebration.

The club voted to raise the money and named E. S. Walter, Borah Osser, Oscar Oie and James Hosking to solicit the money from the business men. Fifty dollars has already been donated by the city commission.

It is tentatively planned to have sailboat racing, a ball game, fireworks, parade and floats, a band, races and a speaker for the occasion.

The club also voted $5 to have Munising literature placed on display near the Straits of Mackinac. Interested tourists have been asking for Munising literature, according to word received here by the club.

The club adopted a resolution petitioning the sheriff and the police department of the city to keep transients moving. It was pointed out that these men have a regular colony down near the shore of Munising bay, just east of the Beach Inn, and they annoy housewives when they come begging for food. Their presence may prove dangerous to Munising children. Reports have been received by the police department of a man chasing children on the road leading to Brown's addition, adjacent to the Jackson-Tindle mill.

Fred Blom Jailed On Drunk Charge

Munising, June 18—Fred Blom of Munising was arraigned before Justice Thomas J. Walters here today on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. This being his third offense he was given a 60-day suspended sentence and ordered to leave the county for one year. The arrest was made by John McFee, special night patrolman.

James Martin, CCC enrolee of Camp Wyman, was sentenced to serve a 10 day jail term in the county jail for also being drunk and disorderly. He was arrested here Saturday night by Peter Flavin. He was unable to pay a fine of $5 and costs of $6.55.

CONSERVATION FILMS SHOWN

Scenes of Isle Royale And Other Reels Entertaining

Munising, June 18—The Development Club was fascinatingly entertained here Monday evening by Frank C. McClellan of the conservation officers' school in Roscommon county. Mr. McClellan has charge of the conservation educational work in the Upper Peninsula and has offices in Marquette. His duties are to contact sportsmen's and luncheon clubs, fill speaking engagements and give presentations of motion picture conservation films.

Mr. McClellan briefly reiterated the laudatory efforts of the conservation department in Michigan to extend a wide conservation program, promulgate fish, and summed up the progress of the department for the past year.

He then showed three separate films of wild life; the beauties of Isle Royale; the habits of the beaver and the peculiarities, and the hatching and promulgation of rainbow trout.

In the film showing the Wonder Isle there was depicted the beautiful bays and harbors of the isle, like hidden gems in the interior and the virgin timber which covers the area. The stately looking birch trees shown in the film were as old as 500 years, stated Mr. McClellan. Moose were shown feeding in the lake. A calf was shown being cut off from its mother as it was swimming across a lake. The calf incidentally was the first moose calf to be put on exhibition in the lower Michigan zoo. The men had a difficult time capturing it. The animal refused to walk or be shoved and the men had to carry this 200 pound baby on an improvised stretcher the five miles back to camp.

It was estimated by the conservation department that a few years ago there were from three to five thousand moose on Isle Royale, but today Paul Hicki who lived on the isle during the winter estimates that there are about 400 moose left. Inadequate food has accounted for the rapid decrease, it is believed.

Mr. McClellan stated that the experiments conducted last year proved so successful that the conservation department is tentatively planning to return next year to trap and study the conditions of the moose there on a larger scale. Alger county is the only place in the Upper Peninsula that the department has turned moose loose, nine being freed here recently at the Cusino refuge. Occasionally one or more of these animals are reported seen around Twin Lakes by CCC youths.

The next films shown depicted the habits and peculiarities of the beaver, nature's greatest engineer. The picture was especially interesting in that it showed a beaver patching a hole in his dam which had been blown by the camera men. The beaver patches a hole by pushing sticks into the stream bed and plastering mud around them, using their chests for trowels. This is contrary to the general opinion that beavers use their tails to carry mud to reinforce their dams, stated McClellan. Their tails are used as rudders while swimming, seats while cutting down trees, and for splashing danger signals. Also when a beaver fells a tree it may fall in any direction, contrary to the popular belief that it is directed to fall toward the water. This was effectively demonstrated in the picture when a beaver, having finished cutting down a tree, failed to get out the way and the tree caught him under the chin and turned him head over heels.

Aside from their engineering ability, beaver, stated the speaker, are apparently stupid. Pictures were shown where the beaver were easily trapped. After being caught they become quite friendly and when being turned into another stream to live, showed a reluctance to leave.

A beaver's food consists of bark, mostly from poplar trees. When the trees along the bank have been cut, they sometimes dig canals for more convenient transportation of food to their houses. They also use these canals for their own transportation as the beaver is very clumsy on water, and in walking resembles the porcupine. In the fall they usually cut more food than is needed and pile it around their home. The beaver shown in this film were taken in the Upper Peninsula, stated Mr. McClellan.

The next film showed the method employed by the conservation department in obtaining, hatching and promulgating rainbow trout.

The three films were intensely interesting and it is a regretable instance that only a few residents of Munising were able to see them. Mr. McClellan stated that it is the aim of the department to have the study of conservation embodied in the curriculum of the public schools, in primary and junior high grades. It is the belief of the department that the child early educated to the needs and value of conservation will approach the subject with a constructive sense of responsibility when he becomes an adult. The man or woman accustomed to violating conservation laws finds it difficult to get the right perspective to obey conservation laws, stated the speaker. It is the desire to make the people of Michigan and the Upper Peninsula conservationally minded, he said. It is only then that any progress can be made in the conservation field, which has become so essential to the welfare of the people of Michigan. Our recreational industry is the second largest in Michigan today, stated the speaker.

The Methodist Ladies' Aid society will meet today at 2:30 in the church parlors.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Van Dorn are the parents of a son, born June 13 at their home in East Munising.

Mr. and Mrs. Trefel and son, Stanley, of Cicero, Ill., are visiting at the home of Mrs. Bertha Frazier.

Mrs. Roy Frazier and daughter Dawn, are visiting friends and relatives in Cicero, Ill.

TOURIST SIGNS TO BE PLACED

Munising to Lure Motorists Into City This Summer

Munising, June 18—Despite the denial of assistance by the city commission, Laurel Peck who appeared before the commission in the interest of Munising's progressive business men here yesterday, has announced that he will go forward with plans to erect advertising signs at the bottom of the Wetmore hill and near the junction on M-94 in the vicinity of the Marquette airport.

The proposed signs will be 12 feet high and 32 feet long. They will be attractively decorated and will point out to the tourist the advantage of passing through Munising when traveling either west to Marquette or east on towards Newberry and the Soo. The signs will point out the fact that it is shorter, more scenic, and the vacationalists will drive along a lake shore when enroute to these cities. "We have selected as the slogan for the sign on M-94 called the 'shore' way," stated Mr. Peck. The project is financed by an organization of business men and the fund raised will be known as the traffic division fund.

Statistics taken by the state highway department in the summer of 1933 have shown that 80 per cent of the tourist traffic which comes west on M-28 continue on, not stopping at Munising, over M-28 east of here. "If 80 per cent of the tourists pass Munising up on coming over the old road right to the edge of the town, what will they do when they come over the new road and unable to see our city?" inquired Mr. Peck.

"We have a continual stream of vacation seekers that come right to our very door and yet 80 per cent of them go away over a longer route to Marquette when if they would go through Munising they would not only save considerable mileage but would have a more beautiful and enjoyable trip," stated Mr. Peck. Mr. Peck estimates a loss of approximately $200 a day during the busy tourist season to business men on this account. Two atractive signs ideally situated in these places would bring these thousands of tourists into the city, leaving thousands of dollars with local merchants.

Munising clubs have long been seeking a method of deflecting this tourist trade into Munising and have promulgated literature and advertised considerable to that effect. Mr. Peck is of the belief that these signs will remedy the situation by furnishing an incentive to this large group of tourists to pass through Munising instead of coming to our very door and then passing on.

MRS. A. PERRY PASSES AWAY

Death Claims Wife of Spalding Store Proprietor

Mrs. Flora Perry, 33, wife of Albert Perry, Jr., prominent Spalding merchant, passed away last night at 8:30 o'clock at St. Francis hospital following an illness of about two months. Mrs. Perry had been ill for seven years but it was not until two months ago that her condition became serious. Death was due to complication of diseases.

Mrs. Perry was born in Hermansville October 18, 1901 and was married thirteen years ago on November 28, to Albert Perry, Jr., of Spalding, where the couple have lived continuously.

Besides her husband, the deceased is survived by one son Stewart, 11 years old. She is also survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dubey, of Manitowoc, Wis.; and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Leona Champagne, of Manitowoc; Mrs. John Kluba, Iron Mountain; Mrs. William Malbert and Uldage, Irving, Lorraine, Marcella Geraldine and Stewart Dube, all of Manitowoc.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral Home to be prepared for burial and will be taken this afternoon to the home of Mr. Perry's father, Albert Perry, Sr., of Spalding. Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, slow time, from the St. Francis Xavier church with Rev. Fr. Schall officiating. Burial will be in the Spalding cemetery.

Tourist Bureau Active

Menominee — The Menominee tourist information bureau is continuing its service to the traveling public this week by answering inquiries both personally and by mail, and assisting local persons to rent their resort accommodations.

A number of local persons are assisting in the Greater Menominee program by sending out promotion literature to friends contemplating summer trips. This aid is encouraged, and the information bureau is eager to supply information about Menominee to be used in promoting the city's tourist plans.
